of the anniversary birthday party

ning, February 12. The four-tiered cake was held by Mrs. Lloyd president of the Assoc. and Countrywomen of the World; Mrs.

E. V. Fulton, president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada and Miss Marjorie Lee, daughter of the late Erland Lee.
On Thursday, February 24, Stirling Horticultural Society
sponsored a bus trip to Toronto.
Mrs. Carman Nix made the arrangements and 41 people enjoyed the trip. Those from Mount Pleasant were Mrs. Milford Wrightman, Mrs. Walter Wright-man, Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mrs.
Oscar Merrick, Mrs. Sid Williams and Mrs. Percy MacMullen. Several of the group attended the 25th anniversary of the Garden Club of Toronto at the O'Keefe Centre. The presidents message told of the gradual growth of the club since 1947.
There were thousands of people in attendance on Thursday to view the lovely flowers and garden scenes. Perhaps the most important was a replica of the Fragrant Garden for the Blind, which was given to the National Headquarters in 1956 by the garden club of Toronto. It is planned for the pleasure and safe exercise of the blind who live and work at the Institute but anyone is welcome to visit.
Another replica showed the Crippled Children's Enchanted Garden presented in 1962 to the Crippled Children's Centre. Here the children have specially designed play equipment where they derive enjoyment and benefit. Many donations have been given and one of note was from Metropolitan Toronto as a gift to Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth, to commemorate the birth of her baby son, Prince Andrew.

Another scene was the Black Creek Pioneer Village started in 1887 to preserve authentic gardens and shrubs pertaining to 1887.
The scenic corner, Growing Herbs in your Garden, showed a large array of herbs, some of them not very familiar. The various displays were of exceptional merit with a large assortment of magnificent flowers. Some of them were the Roadside Woods garden with mayflowers and trilliums in bloom, the Old World Rose garden complete with a fountain, a Roadside Garden, showing the natural, unspoiled, countryside; an orchid display;

many miniature arrangements;
a new look in window boxes and planters. The 1972 specialty was Rhododendrons, displayed on a large extended stage of the auditorium. All of the individual awards were arranged in their own compartments and were very beautiful.

Among the saleable articles were lovely African violets, geraniums, orchids, heather from Scotland and pussy willows. To the lover of flowers and gardens it was a very worthwhile and enjoyable day.

Timmy Night

Among charities deserving support from the public in their annual appeal for funds, the Easter Seal Campaign surely must rank near the top.

The value of the relief from suffering and aids to the handicapped provided through this continuing program could never be measured in dollars and cents.

Locally, the Stirling Rotary Club for many years has conducted the Easter Seal campaign. As a result, thousands of dollars have been donated to the cause of helping youngsters to overcome or live with serious physical handicaps.

Thursday night, the Rotarians will sponsor a Timmy Night at the Stirling Theatre, to kick off the annual drive for funds. First class entertainment has been lined up and the cost of admission is only $1.00.

Appropriately, the star of the show will be Stirling's own Timmy, Randy Sarraz, who has benefited from the Easter Seal program for 16 of his 17 years.

By supporting this event, Stirling residents will demonstrate that they DO care about the less fortunate members of our society. Even if you cannot attend, you could assist the effort by purchasing a ticket from any Rotarian, at Klompfacker Bros. Groceries or Noble's Drug Store.

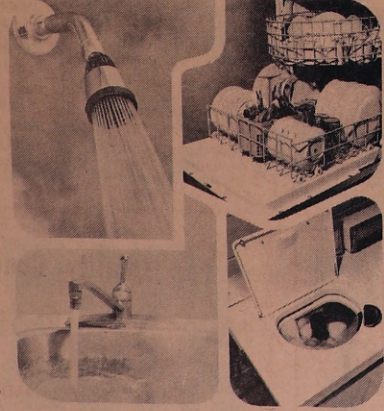

Your dollar will ease the burden carried by some crippled child. What could be more rewarding than that?

Do You Remember?

25 Years Ago

Only the fact that Mrs. F. N. McKee, who operates a local restaurant, sat up late to do a bit of reading Saturday night saved this village a disastrous fire in the early hours of Sunday morning. Detecting smoke in their upstairs apartment, Mrs. McKee roused the other members of the household and after investigation it was found that the smoke was seeping through from H. C. Bird's grocery. Mr. Bird was aroused by phone and making his way to the basement found the fire around the refrigerator unit. He was able to subdue the flames with the aid of a fire extinguisher he had picked up on his way downstairs. The refrigerator unit and platform supporting it together with motors, belting, etc., were all destroyed by the flames. Speaking to the News-Argus, Mr. Bird said "A few minutes more and everything would have gone up in smoke." The loss is covered by insurance.

Mr. Paul W. Hagerman, of Rawdon, placed on our table last week a hen's egg measuring 7 X 8 1/2 inches. It was laid by a Plymouth Rock hen, and it will be hard for any other hen to beat it.

A new time table takes effect on the Central Ontario Railway on Monday next, March 4th. Trains will call at Anson station, going North, at 7:10 a.m. and 1:40 p.m. Going south at 10:15 a.m. and 4:25 p.m.

The public meeting held on Monday evening, though successful in point of numbers, and with a good array of speakers, cannot be said to be a very satisfactory one as regards a betterment of the telephone situation. There were three representatives of the Bell Company present, and all had their say, but not one of them held out any hope or promise of any improvement in the service now given. But little was said in reference to the February days is coaxing the woodchucks out of their winter quarters. This (Thursday) morning a dog owned by Harold Thompson, of West Huntingdon, killed one near their farm barn. Probably we are going to have an early spring.

Stirling's flashy little midget squad eliminated Ajax from further competition in the Ontario Minor Hockey Association playoffs Saturday afternoon when they defeated them 6-3 in the second game played in the Whitty Arena. The locals had a seven-goal margin as a result of the first game here and thus won the round 15 to 5.

organizing of an independent telephone company, which we think is the only way to secure a good service. The experience of other towns shows that an independent company can give a good service, and also at more reasonable rates, at the same time paying a good dividend to stockholders. This matter should receive the earnest attention of all interested in securing a good telephone service at moderate prices.

A good game of hockey was played on Friday evening when the local Juniors trimmed Belleville Juniors by a score of 13 to 7. At full time the score was 7 to 7, but on playing 10 minutes over time Stirling won. The game was one of the most exciting played here this year, as the score was tied on four different occasions. Belleville played a nice combination and are fast skaters. Graham in goal, for Belleville, played a star game, as also did Spangenberg on the defense. For Stirling the whole team played well.

A Weekly Meditation

by Pastor Edward MacDonald
Good Tidings Pentecostal Church
Treason
"Peace, peace, peace!" "No more wars!" The cry for peace rings out amidst the turmoil and the aggression of one nation against another.
But, can there ever be a lasting peace? Can there be an end to the anguish of the young heart that yearns to be free from the contradiction of life and the fear of death?

Along with the cry of peace one can hear the echoes of those that demand freedom, "I want to be free." What is freedom? Is freedom anarchy? Is freedom upholding only the laws we deem just? If we deem freedom to be a heavily used centre operated by the Metropolitan Toronto and Region Conservation Authority.

Peace on earth will never come until there is peace in man's heart. Love and freedom will not come until one subjects himself to the highest of all governments in existence: the moral government of God.
You have an intellect to reason with, and sovereignty to choose between right and wrong. You also have the desire to get your own way. In some cases that means breaking any law that would keep us from our lusts or desires. Now, a person can only see that if everyone chooses to please one's self there would only be chaos. That is why the world is rocking and reeling in a chaotic condition. Man has chosen to live for self—has broken the moral laws of God—which were set down for his own good!

Are you living just for your self? Reason tells man that the only wise thing to do is to turn over his will and life to Jesus Christ so that His will would be our will. This is the only way the world can survive, because Christ would fulfill His desire for our life, and this would be for us to love Him and our neighbors.

Love is willing the highest good for the other person. This law must be the highest law in existence, for only when it is maintained can men live together in peace. The question is asked: If God is a God of love why doesn't he stop wars and famines, etc? God has given us free choice and He wants us to choose Him willingly, for He will not force us to serve Him. God also said if you will obey His laws (which are for your good) wars and famines will cease. (2 Chron. 7:14). But as man continues to rebel against God and His moral government, these conflicting problems will continue.

Man is blaming God for a situation which has been brought about, and will continue, because of Man's rebellion. Man has chosen to live for self and has not made Christ Lord of His life. Any man or woman that does not make Christ Lord of their life is committing high treason against the moral government of God.

What must you do? Admit to God in Jesus' name that you have rebelled against God and turn from your sin and ask Christ into your heart as Lord and Saviour of your life. (2 Peter 3:9). "He that the Son sets free is free indeed." John 8:36.

DO IT BETTER

TICKLE BOX®

by Ted Trogon

"Nowadays you can't walk into a bank with a gun without somebody making a FEDERAL case out of it."

Keeping it clean

with Bill Dodds

Let Henry do it... School bus driver Henry Larouche doesn't believe in getting emotional about litterbugs and their trail of garbage.
"A lot of people are getting emotional," he says, "not too many are doing anything."
But he's doing something with a group of Brampton children... their parents and neighbors refer to them fondly as Brampton's Little Litter Patrol.

"We decided to do something and we hope that other people will get the habit," Henry says. "We are just plain citizens doing our bit."
Five youngsters form the faithful nucleus of the Little Patrol... there are others who work regularly. But wherever they go, other children watch the fun, then dig in and lend a hand.

At Brampton's annual flower festival, he had free midway ride tickets for his young helpers in recognition of their efforts to keep the grounds clean.
When other children saw the free tickets, they set to work too. "Pretty soon there were 50 kids running around cleaning up and there wasn't enough litter to go around," Henry recalls.

"It's not unusual for the children to get rewards for their work, but already some of them are turning down the rewards," he says.

One of their big cleanup jobs is the patrolling a section of Clarendon Conservation Area, a heavily used centre operated by the Metropolitan Toronto and Region Conservation Authority.

The patrol cleans up a section each Monday morning before the conservation area opens to the public at 10 a.m.
They have found the answer to the rising tide of paper, bottles, cans and trash cast aside to deface our parks, cities and countryside... Just bend over and pick it up.
The trouble is, too many of us are too lazy and too ready to let Henry do it.

Stirling 4-H holds meeting

The second meeting of the Stirling Knit Knacks was held on February 22, at the Stirling Senior School.

The president called the meeting to order and we opened with the 4-H Pledge. We examined and discussed about different knit fabrics. The leaders demonstrated the proper way to adjust the pattern for knit fabrics and how to alter the pattern for cutting.

Each member made the necessary adjustments and alterations to her pattern to make it suitable for knit fabrics.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction. Unless you are using a pattern designed for knits only, you may want to make some adjustment to your pattern to reduce some of the ease and to make it more suitable for a knit fabric.

WEEKLY REPORT

FROM

FOXBORO DISTRICT

(BY JACK WOOD)

Now is a good time to get your farm "power plant" ready for spring work. If your farm workshop doesn't have the right tools to test your tractor, you should get compression tests, dynamometer tests, and a hydraulic system pressure test. Diesel tractors should be given fuel injector tests.

Compression tests will give you a check on the condition of your tractor's valves. The dynamometer will give you horsepower readings and fuel consumption under full load conditions. The carburetion in your tractor's fuel system could require repair or just maintenance. In diesel tractors, fuel injection pressure is important, because it requires enough pressure to vaporize the fuel to obtain maximum power and fuel economy.

Even though we all drive cars, and most farmers drive tractors, the spring tune-up is often not a planned event, but happens after we discover poor performance from our motors. Points, plugs, rotor, condenser, and a new distributor cap may be your most effective investment this month. Cleaning out plugged grease fittings, installing new water and hydraulic hoses where needed, cleaning out radiators, screens, and replacing air and fuel filters are standard maintenance jobs on the tractor. Topping up your tractor's differential gear box and crankcase, or replacing the oil is another simple task but important. Your Co-op can provide you with the right Co-op lube oils and gear oils for the job. The important thing is to plan and do the maintenance work in time to avoid losing valuable hours in the spring rush.

CHARLIE BROWN MUSICAL ENTERTAINS TIMMY NIGHT AUDIENCE

Stirling Timmy Night a big success

Perhaps the best value for a dollar was enjoyed last Thursday night when the Stirling Rotary Club presented what may become an annual event-Timmy Night at the Stirling Theatre. The purpose of the evening was to entertain the local residents, and this was done in great measure by the Centennial Secondary School Concert Band, humorous poet Noel Stockton and "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown."

excerpts done by the Young People's Theatre from York University. Second in importance for the evening, but of prime interest to Rotarians and the local children they assist, was the fact that this night was to kick off the annual Easter Seal Campaign, which began this week with mailings to Stirling and environs.

Rotary club president Elwood Bateman called the event an unqualified success, and felt that the messages envisaged-communication and entertainment had been achieved. He also stressed that the club wanted to thank everyone connected with the promotion and performance for their assistance.

The only people deterred by the weather were those who didn't make an effort, as all band personnel were on hand, and the cast of the musical arrived in two stages-at 4 a.m. Thursday and again at about 3 p.m. Following the performance they drove back to Toronto, most of them having classes Friday at nine a.m.

The first half of the program gave the audience not only lots of musical entertainment, but showed what talent lies within the ranks of school bands. Under the baton of Monty Emerson, and with the introductions of Elaine Williams, the band featured nearly every type of popular music from the selections of the Broadway hit, "Promises, Promises," to the real toppers like "McNamara's Band," and "Buglers' Holiday" featuring the trumpet trio. In between were offerings of the female flutists trio, light concert melodies and a modern offering.

The band received sustained applause after each number and after a long burst at the conclusion of the program, came back for one encore number. Master of ceremonies, Elwood Bateman, reminded the crowd that the band had already participated in the Rotary Music Festival and would be playing in the festival of arts the following night, which made for a real busy week.

Sandwiched between the music and the comedy, came a refreshing change as Noel Stockton got the people laughing with a few brief poems, mostly his own compositions. Although his contribution was cut short by the appearance of Charlie Brown and friends, Noel showed why he has gained a wide reputation in this area for a different but popular brand of entertainment. Anyone who has watched the television shows about that famous non-athlete Charlie Brown and his small circle of critical acquaintances, or reads the comic strip, had no trouble appreciating the next hour of the night. Six performers, a pianist, and director, all combined to provide a fast-moving, happy time. Each of the popular members of the crew-Charlie Brown, Peppermint Patty, Snoopy, Schroeder, the pianist, Linus and his blanket and red-headed Lucy took their turns with excellent individual performances and also combined frequently for choral efforts.

The production showed real quality as members took cues right on target, and though the real pianist was not in a good viewing spot, there were no hitches, and unless aware, you couldn't tell Schroeder wasn't playing a piano.

At the conclusion of a standing ovation, the cast was introduced by Julie Stockton, who played Snoopy, and is Noel's daughter. President Bateman then called all Rotarians present on stage for an introduction and they in turn welcomed Stirling's Timmy, 17-year old Randy Sararas, introduced by Easter Seal Chairman Ed Klompaker.

The program closed with a very moving poem by Stockton about Easter Seal work. While the next week is too soon to tell, it would appear from the response that this event could become an annual program. This year's was done on short notice, relatively speaking, and without any prior experience in this work by the club. It could give the impetus for similar things to come.

Mount Pleasant Church hosts service of prayer

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)
On Friday afternoon, March 3, the annual World Day of Prayer service was held in Mount Pleasant United Church with 125 ladies in attendance.

Besides the women of Mount Pleasant six other churches were represented from Stirling. They were St. Paul's United Church, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, St. John's Anglican Church, St. James the Minor Church, Grace Chapel and Good Tidings Pentecostal Tabernacle.

Easter lilies and potted plants added beauty for the occasion. Mrs. Robert Hoard, president of the local United Church Women and her assistants, Mrs. James Hoard, Mrs. Oscar Merrick and Mrs. Harry McAdam welcomed the guests.

Mrs. Mac Sharp, organist, provided prelude and postlude music and accompanied the hymns on the theme of Joy.

The printed program, prepared by the Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada, was centered around "All Joy be Yours" as found in the book of Philippians.

Mrs. Robert Hoard welcomed the group to Mount Pleasant Church and opened with the hymn, "O Happy Day." A translation from the Psalms, "Cry out with Joy to the Lord" was followed by the hymn, "In Christ there is no East or West."

Mrs. Olive Whitehead, St. John's United Church, conducted the series of reading in unison on the theme, Joy Must be Shared.

Mrs. Kenneth Broadworth, Grace Chapel, contributed a vocal solo with guitar accompaniment. Miss Alice O'Donnell of St. James the Minor Church, conducted the "Joy Given to Individuals and to the World."

The special prayers were given by Mrs. Orno Sharpe, Grace Chapel, and Miss Marjorie Forbes, Good Tidings Pentecostal Tabernacle. After which Mrs. Edward MacDonald, Good Tidings, sang a solo with her accordian accompaniment.

Mrs. E. W. Bogan, led in thankfulness and introduced Mrs. John May of St. Paul's United Church, who gave the special address on the theme.

She said in part, in the book of Philippians, Paul found a joy of salvation, the joy of sin for given and the joy of great hope. It is one of the basic laws of life that happiness depends not on things or on places but always on persons. Someone has stated that no flower can bloom in paradise which is not transplanted from Gettsemane. No one can taste the fruit of the tree of life that has not tasted of the fruits of the tree of Calvary.

The crown comes after the cross, living joyously is like living in a constant flow of radiant sunshine.

Joyousness is like a bird of strong, swift wings. It carries us above all difficulties, obstacles, barriers and unpleasantness and it mounts us on the highest peaks of peace, love and happiness.

The sincere Christian must cultivate kindness, generosity, devotion, wisdom and courage and thus spread joy to others. Everyday must be used wisely. The speaker shared an amusing anecdote on the theme, "World Fellowship in Christ" and quoted the 20th century hymn, "Joy is like the Rain."

She stated that on the back page of the March issue of the United Church Observer a memorial to the Rev. Brian Jones says that you can see through a raindrop, if you are not always in a hurry.

The whole Bible speaks of anxiety, fear and joy. The Lord our God led the children of Israel through the desert and into the promised land. Today we are living in a land of promise, a land where we eat bread without scarcity.

On our planet there are many luxuries and treasures which we have received through the pioneers who have enriched our inheritance. In comparison there are other worlds with ignorance, illiteracy, superstition and fear.

The speaker compared our land where we can still vote, where we have plenty of food and many blessings and said that we women should remember that every good and perfect gift comes from God.

Mrs. May's closing thought was that Joy is all around us so let us be full-time Christians working in God's Kingdom and thus we will find that Joy is ours forever. Her prayer, that our loved ones, that our lives be filled with happiness created through our Joy.

Stirling Girls to enter finals

Stirling Girls wrapped up their best of three semi-final series against Peterborough on the weekend by defeating them 3-1 Saturday night and 2-0 on Sunday afternoon.

The girls lost the first game 2-1 last Saturday night.

Susan Wright picked up two goals to lead Stirling to their Saturday night win. Joan Bailey added the single for the local team. Caroline Richardson went the distance in the goal filling in for Marg Bateman who had broken her fingers.

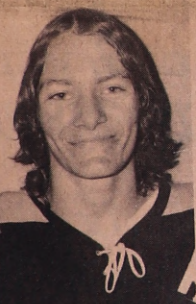

Marg Bateman was back in goal for Sunday's game with her fingers taped up for protection. Her bad hand didn't stop her at all. She picked up a shut-out and handed Peterborough a 2-0 loss.

Sharon Lessard and Susan Wright picked up the Stirling tallies. This game was a little rougher with a fight in the third period.

The Girls will be going into the best of five finals now against Kingston. Games should be started by next Saturday night.

Peterborough was the first place team in the Senior Girls' Hockey standings, Stirling was one point behind them, Kingston, Peterborough, and Stirling were all tied for number of total goals in seasonal play but Stirling had the fewest scored against them.

KEVIN SOLMES

In Stirling this Friday night at 9:00 p.m.

In the first game in Nobleton on Friday night Stirling was downed 8-2. But Stirling was able to get the first goal and out-shot Nobleton 20-14. Kevin Solmes opened the game with a goal assisted by Robert DeJong, and Stan Myers. Nobleton tied the score in the first period with a penalty shot after Kevin Solmes had grabbed a puck in the goal crease.

Coach of the team, Bob Whittam said it was a "very, very poorly played game, I guess the boys were all due for a bad game and they had it together."

Sandwiched between the music and the comedy, came a refreshing change as Noel Stockton got the people laughing with a few brief poems, mostly his own compositions. Although his contribution was cut short by the appearance of Charlie Brown and friends, Noel showed why he has gained a wide reputation in this area for a different but popular brand of entertainment. fourth game of the best of five Ontario Quarter Finals, Stirling had dropped the first two games but downed Newcastle

8-5 in the third game. Stirling was lost to Newcastle 4-3 in the final game for the local team.

Juveniles eliminated as Newcastle wins 4-3

(By Thom Reynolds)

Friday night's juvenile game proved to be a tough battle once the game started. It wasn't until ten minutes before the opening face-off that fans near the referees room realized that it was empty. The teens who on the ice bench and a capacity crowd gathered along the boards, behind the glassed-in area and upstairs and when it was discovered there were no referees.

Manager of the Stirling team, Doug Bird phoned the local convenor in Campbellford, Bill Mulholland, who said that he didn't realize he had to get referees for the game. He gave the manager two names in Trenton but they were not available. The coach from Newcastle phoned his convenor who told him to phone Vern McCallum, secretary-manager of the OMHA in Toronto.

By this time it looked as if the fourth game in the quarter finals between Stirling and Newcastle was going to be cancelled. This would mean returning admission fees to all fans and a long drive for the visitors.

The secretary-manager in Toronto told the two coaches to use a local OMHA card carrying officials and an extra linesman. Both coaches had to be in favor of this plan. Mike Finnigan and Ross Anderson were called in as they had OMHA cards and Bill Jackett was used as the extra linesman. By 10:30 p.m. everything was squared away and the teams were ready to play.

Stirling led the first period with the only goal at the 11 min. mark on a shot by Doug Morton from Mike Hunter and Duane Pyea. There was no scoring in the second period. Newcastle picked up the first two goals in the third period in the first five minutes. Darrell Barrett and Rick Stephenson scored for the visitors.

Robert Arbutckle scored from Mike Hunter at the 8 min. mark to tie the score at 2-2. Robert Arbutckle scored again at the 14 minute mark from Mike Hunter and Jack DeBruin. Newcastle tied it up 3-3 with a goal by Darrell Barrett at the 18 minute mark of the period. This sent the game into a 10 minute overtime period.

Eight minutes into the overtime period, Rob Russell scored for Newcastle to take the series. There were seven penalties in the game with Stirling drawing three and Newcastle four.

Stirling stopped Newcastle from wrapping up the series on Thursday night by defeating them 8 to 6. Ken Hodges picked up two goals in the game with Mike Hunter, Ken Jackett, Jack DeBruin, Rob Arbutckle, Ron Andrews and Rick Farrell picking up the single tallies for the winners.

Although some persons find it more convenient to increase their Dahlias by dividing the clumps of tubers, just as satisfactory results may be obtained from cuttings. Plant the tubers in peat moss and as soon as the sprouts have made several inches of growth cut them off and place them in sharp sand. If one or two pairs of eyes are left on the original shoot, these will start into growth and still more cuttings may be made later.

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

Mother Trouble

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

My 66 year old mother, now widowed eight years, lives alone in the city and while keeping busy with housework and some volunteer work, has made absolutely no social commitments of her own. Instead she comes religiously to our suburban home each and every weekend and holiday throughout the year. The main portion of her existence is here, I love my mother very much—she is and has always been most welcome—but I find myself more and more squeezed by her loneliness. Having just turned 40 myself, with four teen-age children and a wonderfully tolerant husband, I now feel I need the freedom of separation. When Saturday night comes, I want to look forward to a few hours alone with my husband or with our friends.

However my mother is always present and wants to be included. Our youngest boy, just turning 13, is beginning to resent her and we constantly have to reprimand him about this. Yet I know he's reacting to her bad temper and lack of courtesy. (With her health beginning to fail, she often gets despondent and annoyed and cranky with the children.) Recently, some friends who live out of town invited us to visit. My mother startled me by stating openly, "I would love to go, too." My husband says that if she goes, the trip's off. I'm not about to take her anywhere. (She's always been a poor traveler), but I don't want to hurt her anymore than she's already been hurt by her disappointment in life and people.

Somewhat I can't seem to rid myself of this guilty feeling although I've always given her everything of myself: understanding, patience and companionship. What can I do?
M.A., Stockton, Calif.

Dear M.A.:

Kindness can hurt, as well as help people. When your mother became a widow, she was apparently not discouraged from having "the main portion of her existence" in your home. As a result, she has become as dependent as a child in many ways, demanding much of your attention and competing with your own children. Now you seem to be at the point of deciding who comes first: your husband and children, or your mother. If it's to be the former, you may have to begin to loosen the knots in your somewhat knotty relationship with your mother. You may have to tell her directly not to come on a certain weekend because you will not be there. You've tried hard—perhaps too hard—to be a good daughter. But you are not, and have never been, responsible for what life has done to her.

Possible Disappointment

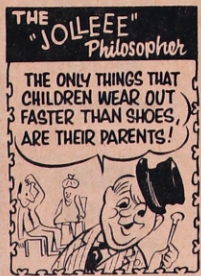

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

My doctor has prescribed estrogen and I find it helps my adjustment to the menopause tremendously. Now there's another serious problem in my marriage. Recently, my husband underwent prostate surgery and I've often heard of "disappointed wives" in such situations. Is there some kind of medicine he might take? Must this kind of surgery result in the discontinuance of our marital relationship?

L.K., Covington, KY.

Dear L.K.:

Estrogen prescribed during menopause can be helpful in keeping a woman on an even keel and many doctors recommend it at this time. Prostate surgery, however, is another matter entirely. In some—but not necessarily in all cases, there may be a loss of the husband's potency. Such matters are best understood by discussing them in detail with the physician.

Wood frame cuts building costs

The following excerpts from a speech by John W. Poole, President of Dawson Developments Ltd. of Vancouver, are of widespread interest to all Canadians concerned about housing. "The building industry is accused of being behind the times, of using antiquated, obsolete methods. We don't apply modern management concepts, we're told. We should introduce assembly-line building systems. Some sources would have us believe that factory-built housing is going to sweep the country."

If you believe any of the foregoing, you're headed for frustration and disappointment. They are just not true. Industrialization of housing has been tried again and again in different forms and no cost miracles have resulted. Certain conclusions can be supported. Industrialized housing is not a faster way, is not a cheaper way, is not a better way, it's just another way.

I expect to open the paper tomorrow and read about a revolutionary scheme to build walls out of some new, non-wood material. This new wall system will supposedly reduce the cost of a house by 30 per cent.

Now this would have to be some hell of a material because the cost of a stick-built wall, that is 2x4's, plywood, siding and gypsum board represents less than 10 per cent of the total price of the dwelling. If we replace the conventional outside wall with nothing—which is hardly a practical idea, the most we can save is 10 per cent. The fact is that no system ever designed to replace the versatile 2x4 costs less. It costs more. Wall panel systems with hard-board facings, aluminum facings, foam plastic cores, spacer cores, etc., all proved to be much more expensive than conventional stud and skin construction. The result is that not one of them is on the market today. It is a well documented fact that all efforts to date to industrialize the shell of a house have been unsuccessful.

The most spectacular result of this endeavour to industrialize wall panels is the growth in the production and sale of mobile homes. A mobile home is a truly industrialized unit. Carpets are laid, even the furniture is installed in the plant and it costs less than a conventional house of the same size. This could perhaps be called a successful example of cost control by industrialization except for one thing.

By any existing yardstick for housing the mobile home is sub-standard. The significant point is that a conventional home will truly last a lifetime. If we look, not for the life of the unit, but just fifteen years down the road, chances are a conventional dwelling unit will be worth double its original cost.

KEEN ON SPORTS

This thoughtful boy is Jon, 11 years old and Oneida Indian in descent. Jon is a handsome lad, as you see, with sparkling brown eyes, black hair and medium complexion.

Jon is healthy, and active, interested in vigorous contact sports. He plays floor hockey, and soccer and he's keen on judo. In summer he plays baseball. He seizes every opportunity to go hunting and fishing. His favorite reading is stories about famous sportsmen.

An average student in Grade 6, Jon has the potential to be above average. His special interests are electricity and science.

As a Cub, Jon is always working to earn new badges. The latest is for cooking.

Busy as he is, Jon has given a lot of thought to his future. He wants very much to have a home of his own with parents who are outdoors enthusiasts. He would be very happy to have older brothers. Farm life appeals to him, but he admits there are attractive features about living in town, as long as there is scope for sports and general outdoor activity.

He will be a rewarding son for warm, understanding parents who will realize Jon will need time to realize he is really part of a family. To inquire about adopting Jon, please write to Today's Child, Box 888, Station K, Toronto. For general adoption information ask your Children's Aid Society.

Education

This is the time set aside to focus attention on that most important facet of our youngsters' lives especially, Education Week. When you look at the provincial government spending, it is an important segment of your tax dollar as well.

Views on education like everything else have radically changed in the past few years, and just how well-accepted they may yet be a matter of contention. Their ultimate value may be great to the student, but so far, there has been seemingly little done except move the various county boards into the bus business and close numerous rural schools.

All these things have been done in the name of improving the calibre of education, along with making teacher requirements more demanding, and other things that have been done in the name of progress.

What seems to have been lost in the same intervening years, if the actions of today's students are any criterion, is much of the respect for authority that used to be so prevalent in every day life. The every day occurrence of student demonstrations that defy description seem to indicate that some where along the way, values have been ignored or the important lessons of living missed during formal education.

If examples of bygone years are of any value at all, much could be done to improve youth's attitude by redeeming the home life that used to prevail in this country. There certainly are more things to entertain, and be entertained but there are still ways that this enjoyment could be done as a family unit much more than it is.

We may disagree with how many things are done, but if every effort is made to keep the family unit strong, and add to it a good education, then our country will still have no fears.

Do You Remember?

25 Years Ago

Messrs. Roy Eggleton, Thos. W. Solmes, and W. M. C. West, Hydro Commissioners, and Mr. R. A. Sprenkle, manager of the local hydro system, attended the O.M.E.A. convention in Toronto on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The worst blizzard in the memory of some of the older inhabitants swept this district the fore part of the week and left the streets and highways choked with snow. Starting on Saturday the snow fell intermittently until Monday. An accompanying high wind whipped the snow into high drifts and by Tuesday morning traffic throughout the district was at a standstill.

Waist-high drifts blocked roads in all but the business section of the village, and cars were stuck everywhere. It was a storm to linger in the memories of those who will be oldtimers themselves some day. They will be telling their grandchildren of the big storm of 1947.

The highway to Trenton was kept open, although heavy going was experienced on Highway 14, from Belleville through to Mar-Mora was blocked. The Ridge Road and the Campbellford Road were also blocked to traffic and concession roads were so heavy that even horse-drawn sleighs couldn't negotiate them. All bus services as well as all railway transportation were cancelled.

A Weekly Meditation

(By Rev. JOHN A. MAY)
St. Paul's United Church, Stirling Christmas week I was involved in a "Love Experience," the type of which I have never before come in contact with: eighty teenagers, sixteen to nineteen complete strangers big "C" Christians little "c" Christians non-believers, seeking to become Christians.

How is it possible for eighty strangers to experience a love and Christian fellowship in five days that the same number of church members who have lived, worked, and played together almost all their lives cannot achieve during the extent of their lives?

Obviously, these people do not truly believe or live God's love, the love that never ends, the love that accepts even the most sinful of the love that gives good gifts the love that desires change for the better, but can accept what is already there.

To me this especially means reaching out to the person next to you: the neighbor the friend the stranger the enemy

And this is what we did at Five Oaks. One boy who arrived during our sing-song the first night couldn't believe that we were all strangers. "I walked in at about 7:30 and there was this guy playing a guitar and a big group of people sitting around him, singing and telling jokes. I had been told that no one would know anyone else, so when I saw that these people all knew each other I felt like an outsider because I didn't know anyone."

Another boy who arrived the next morning was assigned to our group. When he walked into our room he surprised himself and everyone else by saying "You know it's funny but I really feel like I belong here." Both Craig and Bob were surprised when they found out that none of the rest of us knew one another either.

Throughout the week we learned new things about people and their problems. In our group alone there were drug addicts alcoholics juvenile delinquents and former drug addicts and alcoholics.

We all talked about things our best friends didn't even know about. When we found a special problem and expressed our wish to help if we could, that problem was unfolded as if the person was opening his whole heart to us. We, in return for this trust tried to help him work out his problems in the best possible way for him. That week I didn't hear anyone laugh at someone else's suggestions. Accuse someone's problems of being trivial laugh at someone else's opinions, or swear at himself at God at anyone else in the camp. Worship was an every day thing, both as individuals and as a group. We also held volunteer Bible studies and I was amazed at how many people attended them. Rather than Christians, the majority who came to explain what studies were non-believers who wanted to become Christians but who just weren't sure how to go about it, or what Christ's teachings really mean. Through these studies we tried to explain what Christ meant to us and how being a Christian had changed our lives. The greatest thing that happened that week was that one of the boys in our group, who had really been searching for Christ, found himself what finding Christ could really mean to his life.

The love that was a part of that week was so real that one could almost reach out and touch it; so vibrant that one could feel it in people's eyes feel it in their touch hear it in their voices.

God gave us a special gift that week that made all sorts of good things possible. The last night we had a special communion adequately described as a "love feast" where we gave to each other of the body and the blood. By the time the prayers were all over there wasn't a dry-eyed person in the place. Then we all found ourselves crying over and hugging and thanking everyone in sight.

Crying, because we knew it was our last time together. Hugging everyone, because we didn't want to say good-bye. Thanking everyone for all the help and love and happiness that they had brought to us. We had grown to love each other to such an extent that we couldn't bear to leave.

As each person left the next morning it was the same, crying, hugging and thanking all over again. We enjoyed such a fellowship there that I find it hard to believe that some members of some church congregations can sit, Sunday after Sunday bored stiff and as immovable as rocks all through a service, then go out the door, smile coldly at the minister and others, and proceed to complain about the lack of love and fellowship all the way home.

Surely if eighty strangers can learn to love one another then people who have known each other for years ought to be able to be friendly to one another. It takes a little effort sometimes, but it is in doing for others what we want them to do for us that we gain love and fellowship. It's much harder at home than at a place like Five Oaks because at home we are not as isolated from the outside world.

I think we can find God's love and the capacity to love our fellow man if we will only remember that Jesus said, "Ask and you will receive; seek, and you will find; knock, and the door will be opened to you."

Keeping it clean

with Bill Dodds

The beautiful people... Sometimes I get discouraged. There's a picture in our office of an outhouse. Do you realize there is a man in Ontario who is idiot enough to build an out-house on the end of his dock? I wonder if he swims there, I'm sure the people in the cottages around him don't.

And I just read a statement by a British Columbia mining executive. He said open pit mines are beautiful... they offer relief to the constant green of the landscape, have interesting rock formations exposed to view and form a potential tourist attraction.

What really bothers me is that he could be right. I love northern Ontario and the "constant green of the landscape" especially around Lake Superior. But I'm beginning to think that a lot of the tourists I share my summers with just aren't comfortable with unspoiled natural beauty.

There's a spot north of Marathon... a view of Lake Superior with rock outcrops and islands that takes your breath away. A. Y. Jackson sketched it in his travels through Superior country.

I saw it first in 1969. Last summer I went out of my way on a holiday trip to stop and take a picture... something to bring it all back when winter in the city gets too depressing.

The first time I projected those color slides, something caught my eye... a flash from the bottom left hand corner of the screen.

It was the sun, reflecting off the end of a soft drink can. There was a little pile of cans and broken bottles, caught by a ridge as they rolled down the sloping rock of the outlook.

That little heap of garbage is in every slide I took there. And it's getting to the point where I can't see anything else in that scene but that damned garbage. It's getting hard to remember how beautiful that place is.

Now I'm noticing things in my other vacation pictures. The setting sun gives a halo to backlit birches at my favourite campsite near Sioux Lookout. But in my pictures it also catches in the outline of every cigarette butt and dances off all the little aluminum pop can pull-tabs. And that was one of the cleanest camps.

Yes, sometimes I get discouraged.

Trent expansion project approved

PETERBOROUGH — Con-struction will start soon on the academic wing of Trent Univer-sity's fifth college, Trent presi-dent, T. H. B. Symons said today that final approval for the $3,357,000 project has been re-ceived from the provincial De-partment of Colleges and Uni-versities.

Approval was also granted for a related $800,000 site develop-ment program, to provide elec-trical and other services to the college. Two residential wings of the college are already under construction.

General contractor for the pro-ject is Kovey Construction Lim-ited of Markham, who submit-ted the lowest of 11 tenders re-ceived. Electrical installation for the all-electric building will be carried out by Bright Electric (Peterborough) Limited.

The academic wing of the new college, which is being built on the east side of the Otonabee River, will incorporate teaching facilities, faculty offices, a dining hall and two common areas for students and faculty.

The wing will connect directly with Trent's present science complex and will be joined to the residential wings by a covered link which will also house facul-ty and college administration of-fices. This will provide an "in-ternal street" more than a quar-ter-mile in length.

Facilities in the academic wing will include a 350-seat lecture theatre (the university's largest), a branch of the student health service and 36 faculty offices. It will also house seminar rooms and other teaching and labora-tory areas for the departments of anthropology, sociology, psy-chology, native studies and geo-graphy.

Exterior walls of the aca-demic-commons wing will be of concrete block to match the col-lege's residential wings.

The latter, which will house some 340 students, will be com-pleted during the 1972-73 aca-demic year. It is expected that the fifth college will be ready for use by the fall of 1973.

River Valley WI holds 75th anniversary dinner

(By Mrs. Percy MacMillan)
On Friday evening, March 3, River Valley Branch Institute sponsored an anniversary pot luck supper at the Centre for the folk in the community.

Long tables were arranged and a decorated cake with blue candles and lettering in honor of the 75th anniversary of the first Institute at Stoney Creek was arranged at the top table and flanked with blue and gold decorations. The cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Philip Conley.

The supper was convened by the Agricultural group. A picture of Adelaide Hoodless overlooked the gathering.

Eighty-two men, women and children were in attendance and included Mr. and Mrs. G. Barrels and family of Corbyville, who were former residents, also Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Sine and son and Fred Heasman.

Previous to the meal the Institute Grace was sung. For the cake ceremony, the oldest member, Mrs. John Kane, placed the knife and the president, Mrs. George Grills, extinguished the candles. Mrs. Gerald Brooks carried the cake to the kitchen where it was cut and served. After the tables were cleared Mrs. Glenn Bush was chairman for the program. She welcomed everyone, especially the visitors. A humorous skit was given by Mrs. Ernest Carr and Mrs. Roy Tucker. This depicted a sales lot for used people in 1938 where you were able to purchase a used brain, legs or lungs and remember their slogan, "know your organ dealer."

Norman Rosebush and Mrs. Francis Sager contributed violin and piano music.

Mrs. Roy Tucker, president of Hastings West District, gave a vivid picture of the childhood home of Adelaide Hoodless, who was born on February 27, 1857. She was the youngest in a family of twelve children and she grew up on the old homestead known as 'The Willows' at St. George in South Dunfries, Brant County. It was heated by stoves and a large stone fireplace in the cellar. The home had a boy's room up the back stairway and a girl's room up the front stairway. Foodstuffs were kept in a pantry, the kitchen while fruit, vegetables, cream and milk were kept in the cool cellar. She had many chores to do and she walked a mile and a quarter to school.

In 1898 she wrote a book entitled, 'Domestic Service.'

She married John Hoodless, of Brantford, on September 15, 1881. When her youngest baby son died from contaminated milk she decided that mothers needed more education to prevent similar tragedies, which were very common at this time. Her aim was to raise the general standard of the life of farm people. Between the years of 1894 and 1896 she carried on a campaign for clear milk in her city of Hamilton and a crusade for Domestic Science for girls.

Later, through the Department of Education, household science courses were established in every province. Through her efforts Sir William Macdonald donated funds to erect the Macdonald Institute at Guelph and now it has been enlarged to allow more girls to benefit from the various courses in Household Science.

In 1897 as an officer in the National Council of Women, she assisted Lady Aberdeen in the formation of the Victorian Order of Nurses to commemorate the Jubilee of Queen Victoria.

The birth of the Women's Institute was on February 19, 1897, following an address given by Adelaide Hoodless at Guelph Agricultural College a week previous. At that meeting she urged that girls should be taught Domestic Science in public schools.

Erland Lee, secretary of the Farmer's Institute in Saltfleet township then invited Mrs. Hoodless to speak at their annual ladies night. A few evenings later 101 women attended a meeting at Squires hall despite the stormy night and organized the first world institute. The theme "For Home and Country" has now covered the world.

River Valley W.I. is just one small candle in this great link of institute work.

Mrs. Gerald Brooks gave a resume of what benefits are derived from institute work. Seventy-five years ago it was called 'The University for Rural Women.' This past year some of the programs presented at the institute included a speech by a nurse about the heart and its care; a visit from the chairman of the board of education and an outline of the new school system; and a visit to a local cheese factory and a resolution re snow-mobilers and this has passed all institute levels; and the explanation of four different types of education courses from the Department of Agriculture and Food.

The topics for this year, from which a choice is to be made, were listed on the blackboard. The programs are open to all the ladies in the community.

The 4-H club for girls 12 to 26 was explained. At the present time there are 10 girls in the River Valley club and their project for this year is "Sports-wear from Knits."

The F.W.I.C., Federated Women's Institutes, have purchased the Erland Lee Homestead for a museum.

In this home there is the famous walnut dining table where

Mrs. Erland Lee and her husband wrote the constitution for the first women's institute.

The F.W.I.C. have completed the renovations at Guelph University and it will be named the Family and Consumer Affairs Building. The branches in Ontario assisted and $50,000 was received for this project.

The Federated Women's Institutes of Canada purchased the Adelaide Hoodless homestead in 1960 for a historic site.

A few years ago F.W.I.C. organized Institutes in northern Ontario. In the last issue of "The Northern Lights" magazine the officers were listed and there were 10 institute branches in the northwest territories and four branches in the Yukon.

Many of the members are Eskimo women. F.W.I.C. also helps with the national peace gardens between Manitoba and North Dakota. The Associated Countrywomen of the World held their 13th Triennial World conference in Oslo, Norway in August, 1971.

Their latest project was to provide a landrover to Lesotho, South Africa, where any other mode of transportation is almost impossible. In past years a tractor was sent to Greece and sewing machines to Ceylon.

Our contributions to pennies for friendship, assists the A.C.W.W. to carry on their assistance to those who are in need of education all around the world.

DOLLARS AND GOOD SENSE

By WILLIAM J. MARTIN
In the market for a new home? Here's a handy checklist of what you should be looking for according to a variety of lenders.

Location, of course, is all important, not only for your living pleasure, but also for maintaining resale value. Check local zoning ordinances, check for a good school system and check for the nearness to shopping and recreation areas.

Check last year's tax bills then add 5 to 10% to estimate current taxes. Check running costs such as painting, lawn care and replacement of worn parts. If a house is 10 to 15 years old, 2% a year of the house price.

Check on utility costs - heating, electric, gas and telephone. Is the house structurally sound? Get an expert to check it out before you buy.

Look in the telephone book's Yellow Pages under home inspection services. An inspection could cost $50 to $100, but it will tell you whether you'll need immediate remodeling or repair work.

Check the architecture of the house. How's the floor plan and room arrangement?

Take a look outside the house. Check the lot and landscaping. The house ideally should be situated on its lot for outdoor privacy in summer and properly oriented in relation to sun, wind and trees.

Then check the mortgage. Be sure you can afford the monthly charges for the mortgage on the specific house you buy.

Don't forget the closing costs. These include fees for legal services, the title search, recording, surveys, and other necessary services.

It pays to spend some time doing home work - before you buy - even before you start house-hunting. You can get a lot of good information on house buying at your library, in magazines, or from your local bank.

Presbyterian women's group holds meeting

An air of celebrations pervaded King St. United Church, Trenton, recently when the United Church Women of Belleville Presbyterian met for their 1971 annual. The happy mood was the result of a number of things, including banner strewn walls of the host church, bright sunshine, joyous music and the enthusiasm of an unusually large crowd. President, Fran Spear, focused our thoughts in her opening welcome, as she read Rev. 3:20, "who stand at the door... Open your hearts, don't close your lives to him," said the president. Guestline and welcome were given by Mrs. V. Lange, president of King St. U.C.W., and by Mrs. C. Thompson from the Conference U.C.W. in the absence of the president, Mrs. Selge, Mrs. Thompson announced the following dates: U.C.W. Conference Annual, April 10, and 11 in Queen St. United Church, Lindsay; leader, Dr. Parker, of Queen's, U.C.W. School at Quin-Mo-Lac on Sept. 8, 9 and 10, guest speaker, Miss Hargrave and Mrs. C. Kells, literature, gave a very comprehensive account of their many books for sale.

Mrs. L. Hagerman led in a lively sing song using hymns from the new hymn book. The speaker for the morning, Dr. E. E. Long, was introduced by Mrs. Jeanne Williams and thanked by Mrs. Ellen Kerr. Thomasburg U.C.W. led in the worship service for the afternoon, taking Stewardship as their theme. To show how all parts of our lives are involved in stewardship six members dedicated the following articles, a candle, needle, Bible, bread, coin, and flowers. Those taking part in this very effective service were: B. Sararas, M. J. Rolfe, J. Morton, M. Emmens, A. Ketcheson and M. Foster.

Mrs. G. Smith, chairman of the finance committee, brought a recommendation that $500 of the bursary, lay fund and fund and $250 to the lay fund. This recommendation was lost and a motion from the floor to split the amount 3 ways, among bursary, lay fund and fund and M. & S. fund was carried.

The afternoon feature which was prepared by Mrs. Ferne Weaver and Joan Bush, was called, "Are you an Inner or an Outer?" This consisted of a "Dear Abby" cast with Joan Bush as Abby and a large number submitting their problems, each asking, "Am I an Inner or an Outer?" Some of the letters were signed by "Couldn't Care Less", "Kinda Bored", and "Always Sharin and Carin". A skit, of ladies packing a bale, was acted with mention made of places to send used clothing when the Overseas depot closes. These are: Fred Victor Mission, Street Haven, your local hospital (layettes), opportunity shops and other community projects. Many valid points were emphasized in this presentation, which ended with, "Get involved, Let's all be Inners."

Rev. N. Bowering, president of the Presbyterian, brought greetings from Presbyterian and installed the officers for the coming year. This list of officers will be published in a later issue. Guest speaker for the meeting was Rev. Dr. Ernest E. Long. In one of his opening statements Dr. Long said, "We cannot be intelligent Christians unless we realize how utterly different our world is from much of the rest of the world."

He speaks from experience as he has spent many years in the ecumenical work of the World's Council of Churches and Mrs. D. Heath introduced the new study book Jesus Christ and the Christian Life. Mrs. R. Hadley and Mrs. T. Clements read portions of scripture. Two questions were asked - what is the heart of the Gospel message and how should we in our church and in our community draw outsiders into our fellowship? Faith is found in fellowship. Mrs. E. Ketcheson gave an interesting report on the Presbyterian meeting held in Trenton last month. Mrs. Russell gave the members a card outlining the purpose of the U.C.W. This was read in unison, followed by the Benediction.

Mrs. Keller read the scripture taken from Psalm 36. A piano solo - Minuet in G, was played by Mrs. V. Hagerman. The Miracle of Snow was read by Mrs. F. McGee and The Size of Your Heart by Mrs. G. Safety Levels for Vitamins

It is one thing to manufacture feed for poultry and livestock to meet the minimum requirements of the National Research Council. It is another challenge to build into the feed additional vitamins and other nutrients to meet the needs of the animal under different conditions of stress. In other words, our nutritionist must make allowance or provide a margin of safety to be sure the feed will be adequate for a wide range of practical farm conditions. The minimum requirements would not necessarily be adequate for all such conditions.

Many, many factors affect vitamins in the feedstuffs used, are what many feeders would

THE MAX FERGUSON SHOW

Together again! The inimitable Max (he's the one with the running shoes) and the irrepressible Allan McFee (the sartorially splendid gentleman on the left) are reunited in The Max Ferguson Show, heard weekdays at 2:30 p.m. EST on CBC Radio. Lots of chatter and music (Max's choice), humor, a sound quiz, and guests who make witty and wacky observations on the passing scene. All of it lively, low key and topical. "Positively, Mr. Ferguson." "Absolutely, Mr. McFee."

Consulting engineers approved by OWRC

Stirling apparently has a firm of consulting engineers acceptable to the Ontario Water Resources Commission.

At Monday's council meeting, the OWRC advised that the firm of Greer, Galloway and Associates, with head office in Peterborough, and a new branch office in Belleville, had been approved for this type of work, and have been asked by the commission to prepare an estimate of the cost involved in preparing plans required by the OWRC.

In its terms of reference, the OWRC asked the firm to prepare plans that would be capable of handling a population of 2,000 by the year 2,000 as far as the lagoon system and sewer extensions are concerned.

This approval by OWRC means that the work started last year to enlarge the lagoon can be resumed. The drawings submitted by the previous consultants were not in accordance with OWRC standards, and the commission, in effect, told the village to fire one, and hire another.

Action taken since the council talked to a representative from Greer, Galloway, did not sit too well with Council, especially Councillor Doug Bensley, but in the end, council apparently felt there was little that could be done other than go along with the moves that have been made.

Bensley raised the point of having a retired engineer take a look at what is required to bring the system and extensions to OWRC requirements, so the village would have a talking point and at least some knowledge of what is required.

After some discussion, it was agreed that this might be a good idea, but as Greer, Galloway have apparently been told to go ahead, it would be duplication.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Stirling council was advised Monday night the last grant toward work on the ball field for 1971 had been received, in the amount of $480.

The boiler in the Community Hall has been inspected recently and is up to standard.

Former reeve and warden Donald Rodgers resigned from the Quinte Planning Board, by letter to council. He stated that he would not stand for re-appointment for another term.

The village will ascertain costs of hiring an appraiser in connection with the proposed assessment appeal on the Hogie Funeral Home. Cameron and Ord, the solicitors, suggested two names that are qualified. Clerk W.L. Pollock is to contact them and find out their fee.

Stirling Teen Bowling League

On Friday, Feb. 25, the point winners were as follows: Gutters, (55), took 5 points from the Chargers (56) and the Hi-Lo's (47) took 3 out of 5 while the Strikers (42) took the remaining two.

Faith Little bowled games of 226, 165 for girls' high single and double of 391. Susan Wright has the high average of 212. Paul Jones bowled games of 213, 160 for boys' high single, high double, 273 and high average, 189.

Other good games were bowled by Fred Smith, 194; Debbie Montgomery, 156 and 168; Janet Munro, 162; Sharilyn Farrell, 154; Shirley Goodman, 140, 152; Lyn Merrill, 168; Sue Wright, 183, 190 and Robbie Hatton, 140, 136.

On Friday, March 3, 1972 the Gutters (60) took five points from the Strikers (58) and Hi-Lo's (52) took five points from the Chargers (56).

Faith Little bowled games of 192, 223 for girls' high single and double, Susan Wright has the high average of 211.

Lyn Merrill bowled games of 223, 157 for the boys' high single and double, Paul Jones has the high average of 187.

Other good games were bowled by Sharilyn Farrell 174; Paul Jones 153; Fred Smith 141; Sue Wright 214, 168; and Tim White, man 149.

IODE Chapter holds meeting

On Thursday evening, Feb. 24, 1972 the monthly meeting of the Hon. J.R. Cooke Chapter of the IODE was held at the home of Mrs. Edwin Warren with a pot luck supper.

The Regent, Mrs. Robert Hough opened the meeting with the IODE prayer. Mrs. Carl Boslak read the minutes of the last meeting which were approved. She also read the minutes of the last annual meeting. Mrs. Douglas Ackers gave the treasurer's report. Mrs. Carman Fitchett, Services Secretary, gave her report; Miss Gena Spry called the roll with 10 members answering and one visitor, Mrs. Carman Fitchett, chairman of the nominating committee, installed the new officers.

A successful Art Show and Tea was held in the community hall during September, and this effort provided the funds for our Educational Bursary. This was an amount of $100.00 and it was presented to Miss Lana LaChapelle of Stirling. Slides were taken at the art show that turned out very nicely, and these were shown at the October meeting.

During the Remembrance Day Service in Stirling, Miss Rosa Spry placed our IODE wreath at the Cenotaph.

One of the most interesting meetings of the year was held in May, when the Regent, Mrs. Robt. Hough, showed some very lovely slides of Hawaii, and also displayed many items that were souvenirs of her winter trip.

The annual district dinner was held in October in Belleville, and the St. Julien Chapter was the host. At the same time a lively and interesting area conference was held. Over half our membership were able to attend the dinner.

This year our chapter sent the following items to headquarters: 99 hand knit and sewn articles, ($151.40); 14 Nursery Bags at $3.00 each ($42.00); 3 dolls and one rattle, ($3.00); 3 crib blankets, ($9.00); 12 pairs of shorts and pants, ($19.50).

The total number of items was 131 and valued at $224.90.

Our annual allocation of funds to headquarters was sent to cover the following: National Funds - Lucy Morrison Bursary Fund ($20.00); Shipping Fund ($15.00); Korean Project Funds ($10.00); Peace Garden Fund ($1.00); Provincial Funds - Services Department ($20.00); Attawapiskat Community Hall ($5.00); Canadian Scene ($1.00). The total of these donations is $72.00.

The new officers for the year 1972 are as follows: Regent - Mrs. Carl Boslak; Vice Regent - Miss Gena Spry; Secretary - Mrs. Robert Burgess; Assistant Secretary - Mrs. Eugene Burrell; Treasurer - Miss Rosa Spry; Education Secretary - Mrs. Crichton Harro; Echoes Secretary - Mrs. Donald Rodgers; Services Secretary - Mrs. Carman Fitchett; Standard Bearer - Mrs. Everett Cooke.

The Regent, Mrs. Hough then turned the rest of the meeting over to the new Regent, Mrs. Carl Boslak. Mrs. Boslak thanked Mrs. Hough for the wonderful work she had done while in office and Mrs. Warren wished Mrs. Boslak every success in her new office as Regent. The meeting was closed by all singing the Queen.

Fire hydrants require attention

Fire Chief Graham Mouck told council Monday night something must be done about safety at the Stirling Community Hall and also several fire hydrants need attention.

The chief appeared before council Monday night and told them that two exit doors were blocked with snow, and must be kept shovelled at all times.

On the subject of hydrants, he mentioned three that by virtue of their low position, are covered with the first pass of the snow plough. He pointed out that they must be shovelled out to be used and this was also impractical after each storm.

Council will ask the Public Utilities Commission to assess the situation when the snow has melted and see how many should be either relocated or raised so this does not happen.

Stirling 4-H Club

The Stirling Knit Knacks met at the Senior School on February 29 for their third meeting.

The meeting came to order and we opened with the 4-H Pledge. Among the topics which were discussed in the business portion of the meeting was the design of our record book covers for Achievement Day.

The business was followed by a discussion on getting ready to sew with knit fabrics and fitting the garment for sewing. The leaders demonstrated the proper procedures for pressing knit fabrics.

Each member fitted her garment to make it ready for sewing. The meeting closed with the Mizrah Benediction.

What your dollars do.

As told by Denis Lapalme who was once a crippled child.

I'm sure glad to be able to thank everyone for the help they give me and crippled children at Easter Seal time. Three years ago I was in a bad accident. A train ran over my legs, but I'm okay now, even though I wear artificial legs. I can play hockey, ride a bike, climb trees and play ball.

I'm this years Timmy and its me you see running on the new Easter Seal cheques.

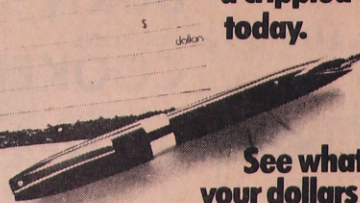

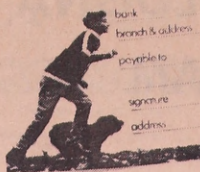

Will you please send in your donations to help make the other crippled children better, like me.

Thanks very much.

Yours truly

Denis Lapalme

REFUGES AND SANCTUARIES

Along the major waterfowl migration flyways, refuges and sanctuaries have been established to provide rest, food and water during spring and fall flights. Some are staging areas where the birds stopover before continuing their journeys, others provide permanent wintering grounds. Among some of the better known are: The Jack Miner Sanctuary at Kingsville, Ont., East Meadows near Oak Point, Man., Wascona at Regina, Sask., Ministik Lake near Edmonton, Alta., and the Reifel Refuge at Vancouver, B.C. In the U.S. there are many, including Silver Lake, Rochester, Minn., Devils Lake, S.D., Bear River, Utah, Crescent Lake, Nebraska, Mark Twain, Illinois, Squaw Creek Mo., Horicon Marsh, N.Y., and Aransas Refuge in Texas.

What to look for when purchasing plywood

Canadians buy and use 1.5 billion square feet of softwood plywood annually but sometimes the jobs they do cost more than necessary or the finish doesn't meet their expectations because they were unfamiliar with plywood types and grades when making their purchase.

There are many plywoods manufactured throughout the world. There are also significant differences in methods of manufacture, species of wood used, type of glue, and in the standards to which manufacturers adhere.

To manufacture plywood, thin layers or plies of veneer are glued together with each layer running at right angles to the one immediately above and below it. This cross lamination accounts for plywood's exceptional two-way strength and dimensional stability. Each sheet of plywood has an odd number of layers so that the grain on the outside plies is parallel for a uniform appearance.

Foreign manufactured softwood plywoods are available in two types: interior and exterior. Interior types are not suitable for conditions where moisture or humidity are present, and even when manufactured with waterproof glue, exterior types graded according to the minimum U.S. standards do not meet the specifications of the Canadian Standards Association.

The specifications of the Canadian Standards Association regulate the manufacture of plywood. Only fully waterproof glue bonded under heat and pressure is acceptable to CSA standards, and they require that the quality of the plywood veneers be strictly controlled.

Plywood veneers are graded into four categories. Using these categories in various combinations, twelve standard grades of plywood panels are produced and graded according to the quality of the surface veneers.

The name of the grade often indicates its end use; i.e., marine, concrete form or sheathing grade plywoods, but the home handyman will most often come upon the words 'Good' and 'Solid' as grades on the plywood he purchases. A 'good' side has a surface of 'A' veneer. This is the highest quality of smooth sound veneer free of knots, splits, pitch pockets or other open defects. A 'solid' grade of plywood has a 'B' surface veneer allowing sound tight knots, tight splits, slightly rough grain and a limited number of patches and minor sanding and patching defects.

Plywood can be purchased Good Two Sides, Good/Solid, Good One Side, Solid Two Sides or Solid One Side. A Good or Solid One Side will have a 'C' veneer on the back which allows minor open defects, limited size knot holes and pitch pockets. These defects have no effect on the panel's strength.

In general Good Two Sides is used where a high quality paint finish is intended and where both sides of the panel will be exposed to view, e.g., partitions, cabinet doors.

Where relatively good but not exacting appearance is required, a Solid grade is used: Good/Solid, Solid One Side, or Solid Two Sides depending on whether or not both sides will be seen and the importance of the exposure. For instance a Good/Solid grade is often used for kitchen cabinets where the interior finish is less noticeable than the exterior. Solid Two Sides is ideal for shelving or where an opaque paint finish is intended. For panelling, soffits, or sliding doors where one excellent surface is required, use Good One Side. Solid One Side is ideal as an underlay for thin vinyl floors.

All panels with 'A' or 'B' veneers on the face or back are sanded to a smooth uniform finish. Panels with 'C' grade faces or backs are left unsanded for economy. Unsanded plywood, graded Sheathing or Select Sheathing, is used in structural applications such as roofs, walls and subfloors.

Special use plywoods that the home handyman should know about are Marine grade, which has high quality 'B' veneers in its inner plies, and overlaid plywoods. Overlaid plywoods are manufactured with resin-fibre overlays which improve the appearance and durability of the Free forestry films

Interested groups can obtain a wide variety of films depicting B.C.'s forest industry. A detailed list and description of the films available on loan can be obtained by writing the Council of the Forest Industries of B.C., 1500-1055 West Hastings Street, Vancouver 1, B.C.

Of particular interest to builders, building inspectors and students of the building trades are films on construction techniques, while conservation groups, outdoorsmen and nature lovers will enjoy films on forestry techniques, silviculture and logging. Outstanding nature photography and remarkable sequences of rarely pictured birds and animals are featured in some movies, and graphic scenes of forest fire havoc are shown in another film. Aspects of the forest industry such as marketing and transportation economics are studied in some films while others, like the manufacture and use of fire plywood throughout the world, are of general interest to all tastes and age groups.

They had earlier beaten Campbellford 2-1 on Friday night in the second game in the best of three series. Jacob Talsma scored with Richard Anderson and John Klompaker drawing the assists while Bruce Myers added the other, unassisted.

The first game on Wednesday night was tied 3-3. Mark Montgomery, Bruce Myers, and John Klompaker scored for Stirling.

The Novices finished fourth in seasonal play with Marmora first followed by Campbellford and Brighton.

Craig Morton and Brian Mitchell helped each other out, with each getting a goal and an assist. Mark Dobson picked up the other two goals with Barry Danford drawing both assists.

Stirling led the game 4-1 up to the five minute mark of the final period but Stroud stormed back with three quick goals. There was no scoring in the ten minute overtime period.

The third and what could be the deciding game, if Stroud wins, in this best of three semi-final series, will be played in Stirling on Friday night at 9:00 p.m. The team is looking for good support by local fans as many of the local hockey supporters will be in Nobleton with the Bantams or in Kingston with the Girl's team. The fourth game would be in Stroud on Sunday.

OH BOY, DOES THAT LOOK GOOD!

The smell of fresh baked bread spread a tantalizing aroma through the kindergarten class at Stirling Junior Public School on Thursday afternoon of last week. The kindergarten pupils, with assistance from their teacher, baked several loaves of bread as part of a project for education week. News-Argus photographer, Roy Lewis, caught these young men, (from left) Richard Jones, Jeff Thompson and George Stone, as they were having a look at the bread shortly after it had come from the oven. The boys only had a short wait and then they, along with the rest of their classmates, received a sample of bread and butter.

Dr. A.M. Laverty honored at Queen's

A testimonial dinner was held recently to honor Rev. Dr. A.M. Laverty who left the ministry of St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, over a quarter of a century ago to become the chaplain of Queen's University.

The chaplain, now 57, was presented with a $3,000 gift for the "Chaplain Fund" - a fund tapped in a hundred and one ways, on behalf of Queen's students and staff, as the chaplain sees fit.

The regime of the first full-time university chaplain in Canada, and the only one Queen's has had, has embraced the four principalships of Dr. Robert Wallace, Dr. William Mackintosh, Dr. James A. Corry and Dr. John J. Deutsch.

Dr. Laverty was born in Toronto and had his early schooling there. During his high school years, he worked for the T. Eaton Company as a checker and wrapper, and continued part-time work at Eaton's during his four years at Victoria College.

He received his BA in 1934 and three years later, his BD, at Emmanuel College and was ordained to the ministry of the United Church of Canada.

From 1941 to 1945, he did a stint with the Canadian Army, as chaplain.

Dr. Laverty is a common participant in all convocations, where he is official "invocationist." These convocations included the honoring of noted public figures such as President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1938, and on another occasion, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt; three Canadian Prime Ministers, Lester Pearson, John Diefenbaker and Pierre Trudeau; Leonard W. Brockington and Col. and Mrs. R.S. McLaughlin.

He is the chairman of the Frontenac County board of education.

A DIFFERENT WAY OF LIFE

A group of students from Stirling Public School conducted a recent study on the Mennonite way of life. They spent a few days at the farm of Rudy Shetler, R.R. 2, Stirling, and constructed a display for education week. Tom Cooke displayed a pitch fork made entirely of wood while Ellen Jones operated a butter churn. Both items are still used on Mennonite farms.

Boy Scouts hold father-son banquet

On February 29, about 135 fathers, sons, members of the IOOF and visitors, sat down to a pot luck supper to celebrate the annual Father and Son Banquet. Rev. Edward MacDonald said grace and some mothers of the boys very capably served the meal.

While the ladies were clearing the tables, Rev. Charles Staples led a sing song.

Chairman of the group committee, Roy Tucker then introduced the head table and acted as chairman for the evening. The toast to the fathers was very nicely given by Joey Hart, and replied to by Douglas Dettlor. The chairman thanked the IOOF for the use of the hall and the Past Noble Grand for the use of the dishes. Donald Porritt spoke on behalf of the Legion. George Carlin then introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. John May.

He thanked the committee for the invitation and gave a very inspiring talk on imitating. He said that most boys try to imitate someone, mostly their fathers. Following is different from imitating. Lord Baden-Powell did not want you to imitate but try to follow the program. Try to teach our boys, but be sure and apply to our own lives that which is good. If we do not, we cannot expect our young people to follow. Let us walk and work with them. Boys, be careful what you imitate, seek out that which is good. Fathers, set examples for your own sons. He closed with a poem.

The chairman thanked the speaker for his message.

District Commissioner Ernie Harvey spoke a few words. He said Scouting in Ontario in the (Cont'd on page three)

Bantams take 2-1 lead in series with Nobleton

Stirling Bantams took a 2-1 lead off Friday night in their best of five semi-final playoff series against Nobleton by defeating the visiting team 3-2. Stirling scored in the first period at the 4:25 mark on a goal by Dale Kleinstuber with Cliff Reid picking up the assist.

Nobleton tied it up at the 10:43 mark in the period on a shot from just over the blue line by Paul Vanderbrum that beat Stirling goalie Richard Whattam to the corner.

Stirling went ahead at the end of the period with a blistering shot by Stan Myers from just over the centre line. The goal was assisted by Jeff Farrell. There was no scoring in the second period.

Stan Myers gave Stirling a 3-1 lead 30 seconds into the final period with Robert DeJong and Kevin Solmes picking up the assists. Ron Davidson picked up the other Nobleton goal.

Stirling outshot Nobleton 34 to 14. There were nine penalties with Stirling drawing four of them.

On Friday night, Stirling centre Wally Blakeley held flashy Nobleton centre Randy Bell off the scoresheet as Stirling recorded the win. Bell, who is being sought by at least three OHA Junior A teams, averaged three goals a game in Nobleton's undefeated season, but has scored only twice against Stirling, once on a penalty shot.

The fourth game in the series will be this Friday night in Nobleton at 9:00 p.m. A special spectator bus has been arranged which will be leaving the village at 6:30 p.m. Anyone wishing tickets for the bus ride to the game can phone 395-3368 or 395-2627.

4-H organizational meeting here Mar. 20

4-H will be organized for 1972 during the school winter holiday, March 20 - 24. 4-H is open to boys and girls who are at least 12 years of age by January 1st and who may not have reached their twenty-first birthday by December 31st of the current year.

Basically, 4-H provides an opportunity for young people to learn to work with people. Every one meets together as a club to plan activities, to have fun, and to learn from a speaker or leader. The 4-H Motto is "Learn to do by doing" meaning just what it says, 4-H members are expected to get involved by, first of all, looking after a 4-H project. There are a large number of projects under the headings Livestock, Field Crops, Horticulture, Engineering, Conservation, Farm Management and others such as Light Horse or Pony Projects. 4-H members are also expected to get involved in planning the club program and activities for the year. There are also a number of 4-H awards available for outstanding achievement. There are awards available within each club as well as on a Provincial and Regional basis. Participation in the Provincial programs usually involve only a few people.

An organizational meeting for Stirling 4-H Club will be held at the Legion Hall on Monday, March 20 at 8 p.m.

Appeal continues for Wallace family

Grocery and clothing vouchers, along with storage facilities are the most pressing demands of a Rawdon township family left homeless Friday night when their 5th concession house was levelled in an evening fire.

Mrs. Max McGuire of Stirling is acting a co-ordinator for accepting donations, which can be left at her home, at the corner of Henry and Elizabeth Streets, or at Stirling Public School where she works.

Mrs. McGuire said Tuesday that the family of Al Wallace has enough beds and other furniture at the moment, but as their new home has only one closet in four bedrooms, they are finding storage of items a problem. Mr. Wallace is employed, but with a family of six small children, she suggested vouchers would be perhaps more useful than cash.

The fire broke out about 9:30 Friday night, and although her husband was away, Mrs. Wallace was able to get all the youngsters to safety. They were found standing in the lane when neighbors arrived.

It is believed an over-heated oil stove caused the blaze.

During the weekend, the family was located in new quarters, after spending Friday night with Dr. Bruce Murray. Donations began arriving as soon as the plight was known, and needed clothing was provided through the Belleville Red Cross disaster committee.

Mrs. McGuire can be reached at 395-2381 for more information.

New fertilizer blender is unveiled at Foxboro

An official opening and tour of the new, fertilizer blending equipment was held on Friday, March 10 at UCO Foxboro Branch.

Jack Hall of Plainfield, vice chairman of the Foxboro branch council, was chairman for the afternoon activities. Mr. Hall introduced Glen Johnston, Crop products department U.C.O. Weston, to the large group of area farmers.

Mr. Johnston discussed the bulk blend program in detail. The basic fertilizer ingredients, nitrogen, phosphate and potash, are all stored in bulk at the warehouse. This new service will provide farmers with a custom blend of plant food to meet each crop's individual requirements for least cost crop production.

Cliff Allen, UCO zone director, Kingston, spoke briefly about the new service. Douglas Tippet, Hastings County Agricultural Representative, also spoke about fertilizer and crop production trends in the county.

Alvin Donaldson, branch manager, discussed the ways of handling the fertilizer. He mentioned the new fertilizer truck for custom field spreading or bulk delivery. This unit will deliver fertilizer into corn wagons, spreaders or any other facility on the farm.

Farmers can also pick up fertilizer with their own trucks or corn wagons. One ton wooden tote boxes and extra spreaders, large and small, are also available.

Thurlow township deputy reeve, Borden Forsythe, pressed the control button to officially start the new fertilizer blenders and elevators. The group then toured the facilities.

UCO Foxboro Branch also offers a complete bagged fertilizer service and auger ammonia for supplemental nitrogen. Alvin Donaldson, local manager, described it as a local, flexible, high speed service to meet the needs of today's farmer.

NEW FACILITIES AT UCO FOXBORO BRANCH

UCO Foxboro Branch recently installed new fertilizer blending equipment. The new blender was demonstrated on Friday of last week. Farmers will now be able to receive various blends of fertilizer to suit individual crops' needs. Photo by Roy Lewis

The Resolution convener, Mrs. Jack Dush opened the program with a sing song which included a new version of My Bonnie. Mrs. Philip Conley was piano accompanist. Mrs. Bush read an article on resolutions from the Home and Country magazine, which gave several special outlines for this department.

Her husband, Jack Bush, reeve of Stirling, gave a very informative address on existing laws, which affect the township and also of the county system of education.

The Truant officer checks if children do not attend school and the Children's Aid Society then traces the student.

The Welfare Department is now called Social Services and they give temporary assistance to the unemployed. Applications to enter the County Home are on an individual basis.

Mrs. Bush outlined the various building permits that are necessary whether it is a new building or one altered or torn down. Safety and trench inspectors are employed for the benefit of the people.

It is recommended that one acre of land be a guideline for building in the township where there are no services.

The speaker gave a list of officers in the township who are in charge of various duties and outlined the procedures that are needed.

Mrs. Bush was thanked for his informative message.

Mrs. Bush then gave a graphic picture of the interesting arrangements which have been carried out at the Stirling schools this week. The teachers arranged items of interest, parents have attended classes and those who have visited the schools have found many items of interest.

The roll call was answered with a homemaker's resolution. Refreshments for the social hour were provided by Gayle Grills, Francis Wilson, Helen McConnell and Shirley Carlisle. Mrs. Vernon Harry voiced appreciative thanks to all who had assisted with the success of the afternoon.

A member displayed her lovely Centennial quilt and a picture was taken for the Tweedsmuir history book.

Chatterton WI

The March meeting of the Chatterton Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Floyd Mac-

Innes with eight members and three visitors present. The president opened the meeting with the Institute Ode and Mary Stewart Collect. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

The roll call "why I should vote" was well answered.

A business period was conducted and many items of business taken care of. The district annual will be held on Tuesday, May 16 at the United Church, Stirling.

Mrs. Smith, convener, took over the meeting with her assistants. An interesting Shamrock contest was conducted. Mrs. Smith gave a reading on Citizenship on Canada. Mrs. MacInnes read "Grandma's Cures."

Two new songs were sung with much humor but old tunes - Smiles and Back up your Troubles. A skit entitled Pettiness, was played by Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Irvine and Mrs. Little. Mrs. Irvine read a paper on conservation and, explained the Moira Conservation, where it extends and its uses.

The meeting closed with the Queen and Benediction, after which the hostess and her daughters served a dainty lunch.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

With the advent of mild weather, parents are reminded that conditions along our rivers and streams will become increasingly dangerous. They should warn their children to keep off the weakening river ice and stay well away from slippery stream banks.

Yours truly,

Resources Manager,
Lower Trent Region and Moira River Conservation Authorities.

WEEKLY REPORT

FROM

FOXBORO DISTRICT

(BY JACK WOOD)

VITAMINS A, D AND E

Last week I referred to factors that affect vitamin levels required in livestock and poultry feed.

This week I think it's worthwhile talking about vitamins A, D and E.

A Vitamin A is necessary to maintain growth, fertility, good hair coat, and normal night vision. Vitamin D is needed for good bone development, a severe lack of it could cause rickets, enlarged joints, curved back and abnormal legs. It is normally synthesized by the sun, but your livestock does not get much sun in the winter months and so the need for extra vitamin D increases.

Vitamin E is necessary to prevent white muscle disease in calves and some reproductive failures in the mature animals. Injectable vitamins such as CO-OP ADE, are easy to use but need to be administered at different times.

In feedlot operations, for example, inject the cattle as you put them in the feedlot. It helps to overcome shipping stress, and helps feed efficiency to improve.

In a beef breeder operation, inject A and D at least twice a year. Dairy cows should have an injection about 30 days prior to calving. Both beef and dairy calves should get 1/2 cc to 1 cc in their first week to counteract calf scours and pneumonia.

Feeder lambs should have an injection as they arrive on the farm. Breeder sheep need extra A and D vitamins at least twice a year.

Brood sows can be given an injection into the muscle when put into the farrowing crate, and their pigs injected in the first week after birth. Boars should be treated with extra vitamins about 2 weeks prior to the breeding season.

On March 1st Olive Miller rode three good games of 223, 231 and 203 totalling 657 for the high triple. Helena Costing rode high single of 269 and she also holds the seasonal high average of 21.

Other good games were also bowled by Lillian Arbuckle 201, 265; Ruby Tompkins 228; Linda Barron 221, 232; and Betty La Rue 205.

On March 8th Betty La Rue bowled high triple of 604 and high single of 223. Good games were also bowled by Isabel Hutchinson 216; Jean Andres 211; Linda Barron 204; Nellie Smith 209; Betty La Rue 214 and Bessie Hewton 215.

Witnesses hold Kingston meeting

"The nations are on a collision course that spells utter disaster for the human family," said Richard A. Grant, District Supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses. He spoke to an audience of 1,724 at the Loyalist College in Kingston on the subject, "Are You Marked for Survival?"

Grant told the audience that world calamity is what frightened statesmen, learned historians and informed scientists foresee. He added that for over 50 years, Jehovah's Witnesses have been preaching about global disaster.

"The global disaster is a result of the nations' wickedness and their going contrary to God's purpose in making man. Not all will be destroyed," Grant added.

"An individual's outlook and course of action taken will determine whether or not he survives."

He then drew a parallel between our day and the time prior to the destruction of Jerusalem in 607 B.C. "Before the destruction, the prophet Ezekiel was given a visionary tour of God's temple. He saw religious and political leaders giving worship to creatures and images. Sex worship was practiced. The leaders said, 'Jehovah is not seeing, Jehovah has left the land. 'Do you see a similarity with what is practiced in Christendom today?'" he asked.

"Do not the nations give more worship to the creation rather than the Creator? Sexual immorality is glorified. It is venerated as the 'New Morality.' Some religious clergymen say, 'God is dead.' It is no wonder that the Bible prophecy of Ezekiel's plains that before the destruction of Jerusalem a warning and life-saving work was done. So in our day, a similar work would be done."

"In Ezekiel's day, only those who were 'sighing and groaning over all the detestable things done' in Jerusalem's temple and in the city itself were saved. These ones were figuratively spoken of as having a mark on their foreheads to distinguish them from those who were desecrating God's temple. Today, only those with a similar heart condition can expect to survive. The mark is what you are as a person. One achieves this mark when Christian qualities dominate his personality."

4 THE STIRLING NEWS-ARGUS, Wednesday, March 15, 1972

Her pen is stilled

In the recent passing of Mrs. Ellis Jones, The Stirling News-Argus lost a valuable correspondent. Our thoughts are best summed up in the following editorial, reprinted from The Campbellford Herald:

Last week The Herald published the obituary of one of the most loyal and devoted correspondents a country newspaper ever had. We refer, of course, to Mrs. Ellis B. Jones, the former Winnie Spencer.

For many years Mrs. Jones covered the Rylstone area as official correspondent for three newspapers, The Campbellford Herald, The Stirling News-Argus and the Belleville Intelligencer, in a manner that was truly remarkable. Probably never, in the history of The Herald, has any correspondent sacrificed so much time and effort week after week, year after year, to supply so much news and happenings for a strictly rural area, for so little return, as did Mrs. Jones. It would appear that nothing of any social nature whatever escaped Mrs. Jones' knowledge in the Rylstone area, roughly ten miles north-east of Campbellford, so fully did this industrious lady carry out her reporting. She indeed must have spent several hours weekly on the telephone and writing to keep her community always in the forefront of the country news columns.

So thoroughly and in such minute detail did she carry out this chore that occasionally, strange as it may seem, both she and The Herald were criticized as a result. Mrs. Jones was scored for "writing too much" and The Herald for providing her with much more space than other rural correspondents required for their budgets.

We recall one New Year's after we had missed an issue (over Christmas) getting an irate "blast" from another rural area because we had printed lengthy columns for Rylstone and had not been able to find room for a much shorter budget of news from this other particular area. Why? Because Mrs. Jones had heeded a front-page printed warning to rural correspondents to send in their Christmas personals before New Year's to assure there would be sufficient space to accommodate it, while the other rural area had paid no heed to the important notice and the heavy demand on space for this purpose over the busy Christmas season was gone before it reached us. Actually Mrs.
Jones' Rylstone news was already in print when the other news arrived. At times, though, although few knew it, we were forced to cut down on Mrs. Jones' offerings and she always took it in good grace despite the time and work she had spent to prepare her weekly budget.

When ill-health forced her to cut down on many community activities in her beloved Rylstone district, (the place of her birth, incidentally), she bravely remained as our correspondent until her final illness forced her to the hospital for the last time. She was, in truth, "Faithful unto death" to The Herald, but her work and steadfast devotion on our behalf will ever abide in our memories.

If we should be successful in finding a replacement for Mrs. Jones at Rylstone (and this is becoming increasingly difficult in any rural area as the years roll by and country living changes) we know we can hardly expect anyone to fulfil her shoes with the same intrepid dedication and devotion to the task at hand.

Mrs. Jones was one of those newspaper contributors who firmly believed, despite modern trends and changes, that names STILL DO MATTER in the news, regardless of how menial the event which puts them in print may have been, and her writings ever reflected this belief.

Truly, with the most regrettable and somewhat untimely passing of Mrs. Jones, The Herald and the community of Rylstone have lost a correspondent whose efficiency and thoroughness is seldom matched or duplicated.

We will miss her, and despite what a few critics may think or say, The Herald, in common with The Stirling News-Argus and the Belleville Intelligencer, for which she wrote with equal ardour and reliability, will be the poorer for the absence of the contributions of her pen, now sadly stilled forever by her death.....

Green, Mrs. T. Reynolds.
The work for the coming year was discussed and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

The springlike weather this week has created deep pools of water and slushy patches on village streets and a number of complaints have been heard of pedestrians getting splashed by careless motorists. Chief of Police Sam Eggleton points out that "splashing may be considered careless driving and splashes are liable to prosecution."

Congratulations are extended to Mrs. S. A. Hatton who celebrated her 75th birthday on Wednesday, March 12th, at her home, John St. During the day many friends and neighbours called to extend felicitations and good wishes.

The occasion was marked by a dinner party, at which her sister, Mrs. W. E. Roberts, of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hatton were guests.

65 Years Ago

The Methodist Church of Madoc have extended a unanimous call to the Rev. Richard Bamforth, B.A., of Toronto, to be their pastor after June next.

Mr. Henry Kerr, of Belleville, paid a visit to Stirling yesterday.
He is now on the road representing the horsehoe department of the Toronto and Belleville Rolling Mills.

Miss Carrie Skitch, of Campbellford, has been engaged as teacher in the public school to take charge of the room taught by Miss Martin, whose resignation takes effect at Easter.

The New Methodist parsonage for the Stirling circuit is now completed, and the pastor and his family moved into it last week. It is a handsome and com-

with cement blocks, two stories, with basement and attic, and fitted with all modern conveniences.
Stirling circuit can now boast of as good a parsonage as any in the bounds of the Bay of Quinte Conference. Messrs. C. Winter and P. Conley had the contract for the mason work, Mr. Mason Clarke for the carpenter work,
Mr. L. Melkielejch for the painting and heating, and Mr. Hey-worth, of Madoc, for the painting.
The total cost is something over $3,000.

Mrs. W. C. Pitman and baby Russell, of Corbyville, spent a few days of last week as guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs.
Samuel Patterson.

Mr. Arthur Hulin is this week taking possession of the property lately purchased by him from his brother-in-law, Mr. Geo. Alcombrae, on Church street.

Mount Pleasant UCW

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)
On Wednesday evening, March 8, 35 ladies were in attendance at the hall for the meeting of the United Church Women based on Africa.

The thought for the day was
"as we proclaim the fatherhood of God, let us live the brotherhood of man," and "we can give without loving but we cannot love without giving." There were numerous maps, a globe, 25 projects depicting Brazil, Hazelton, Angola, etc., and pictures of interest.

Mrs. Robert Hoard opened with a welcome to all and a poem
"Spring Cleaning."

Mrs. Milton Shaw provided a piano prelude and accompanied the hymns.

Miss Brenda Williams read the minutes and the roll call was answered with the visitations.
Mrs. Burton Sharpe gave the financial statement. Mrs. James Hoard reported the catering in February. Mrs. Kenneth Weaver outlined the 1972 projects for the World Development and Relief Fund. A packet, telling the story, was given to each lady in attendance.

Mrs. Archie Bailey hopes to pack the supply bale later in March and donations should be handed in soon. Mrs. Elden Chapman read a letter of thanks.
The fee of $3.00 for registration with Hastings Manor Aux.

liary was authorized to be paid.
The first issued of their booklet,
"Hastings Manor Times," was on display.

A special event will be held at the hall on April 20 when members of the U.C.W. of Bethel, Spring Brook, Hazelton and St.
Paul's, Stirling, will be invited.
Each group will be asked for a musical number and the evening will be centred on Africa.

Mrs. Herbert Smith and Mrs.
Jack Dunham convened the program and they were in charge of the meditation and prayer. All sang "In Christ there is no East or West."

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver introduced the guest speaker, Mrs.
Ralph Sills of Thurlow. A few years ago she enjoyed a farm association tour of Africa and other European countries. She gave a very interesting travellogue giving the highlights of the town and she showed slides of interest.

Mrs. Sills also displayed a large array of souvenirs, a scrap book, tablecloth, needlework, beads, can hat, and a recipe book using sugar.

Mrs. Dunham voiced appreciation and Mrs. Robert Merriek made the presentation of a small gift. The offering was dedicated with a hymn of giving. Refreshments for the social hour were provided by Mrs. Burton Sharpe and Mrs. Wilbur Graff.

River Valley WI card party

On Friday evening, March 10 River Valley Women's Institute sponsored their seventh card party at the Centre with 11 tables in play.

Twenty-five guests were inattendance.

The Home Economics and Health group provided the refreshments and were in charge of the arrangements.

The prizes were (first and second) ladies, Ruby Tompkins and Bess Plunton, men, Arthur Osterhout and Jean Donohoe, playing a man's card.

Keeping it clean

with Bill Dodds

Don't look back, but...

There's something behind you.
Every time you start up your car carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons pour out at the rate of a pound for every gallon of gasoline you burn.

If it's an older car, without the gadgets and adjustments that cut crankcase and exhaust emissions, you are probably dumping two pounds of pollution into the air over every 20 miles or so of road.

And if the car is worn out or badly out of tune, it could be pushing out carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons at the rate of a pound for every four miles.

That costs money.
Carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons are what you get when fuel is not burned completely.
So what are you doing pouring them out your exhaust pipe when they could be pushing the car?
And, of course, enough carbon monoxide in an enclosed space can kill you.

Even in the open in a traffic jam, if a traffic jam can be called open - some doctors say there can be a physical effect from carbon monoxide, especially if you are a cigarette smoker with a certain amount of the stuff already in your bloodstream.

The hydrocarbons can be unpleasant, too.
According to the Provincial Department of the Environment's medical consultant Dr. Maxwell Fitch, they combine in sunlight with oxides of nitrogen to produce Los Angeles' smog - that's a real grab bag of chemicals to make the eyes water and the nose run.

The doctor adds that there is some medical opinion that some hydrocarbons contribute to cancer and some that bring on asthma attacks.
That's why Ontario believes that clean-running cars are essential to clean air. And we're going to have them. By 1975, auto pollution will be reduced to 1964 levels, the Department of the Environment predicts.

And as new controls are designed and old cars are taken off the road it will continue to improve.

But until then, keep your car in shape.
We'll all breathe easier if you do.

Co-operative housing suggested for Stirling

Stirling could become the headquarters for senior citizens' housing in this area, if plans discussed at Monday's council are fulfilled.

Clerk W.L. Pollock indicated that the townships of Rawdon and Huntingdon both have many qualified residents for this type of living, but Ontario Housing Corporation will not build in these areas due to lack of sewer and other services.

Officials of the OHC were in Stirling Monday and indicated

NEW ROOF TRUSS FACTORY UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Work has been progressing steadily on a building at Stirling P.L. Lumber which will be used for the manufacture of rooftrusses. Until now, roof trusses were constructed outdoors, but with completion of the new building the operation will be moved inside.

Girls lead series 2-0

Stirling Girls took a two game lead on Saturday night in their best of five finals against Kingston by edging them 4-3.

Shelly Farrell led off the scoring for Stirling in the first period at 2:39 with Joan Bailey drawing the assist. Annabelle Twiddy tied the score at 14:06.

Sue Wright picked up two goals in the second period at 1:22 and 6:19 with Sharon Lessard the playmaker on the second goal. Annabelle Twiddy again for Kingston kept the visitors in the game, with a goal late in the period.

Sharon Lessard assisted by Sue Wright scored for Stirling at the five-minute mark of the final period while Annabelle Twiddy completed her hat trick goal for Kingston at the 16-minute mark. There were four penalties in the game with two going to each team. Things weren't quite as tough on Friday night as Stirling defeated Kingston 3-1 in the first game of the series. Sue Wright picked up two goals while Debbie Lessard scored a single tally. The third game in the series will be played April 1 in Kingston.

Stirling Girls' hockey team will be hosting an all-day tournament on Saturday in the local arena. Teams participating will include Belleville, Kingston, Oshawa, Picton, Port Perry, Cobourg, Marmora, and Stirling. The finals will be held in the evening with an A and B trophy being awarded and a most valuable player award, donated by Walter Wright, being presented.

Local PeeWees lose series to Stroud

(By Thom Reynolds) Stirling Legion Pee Wees were eliminated from further competition in the Ontario D semi-finals on Friday night as Stroud won 6-5 in overtime, in the third game of the series.

A goal by Stroud with one minute and 10 seconds left in the final period sent the game into overtime.

Ross Hoard reaches age 87

There were over 60 present at Senior Citizens on Thursday. It was the occasion of Ross Hoard's birthday anniversary. Ross is now 87, still drives his car, very alert and also eligible yet. His two daughters-in-law, Mary and Lois Hoard served a nice lunch and also presented Ross with a cake all aglow with lighted candles. On hand to help celebrate were several of his grandchildren and his minister, Rev. W.B. Cox. W.B. often visits our club and always leaves us wearing a smile from some of his well chosen jokes.

Other guests were Clarence Fitchett, Helena McKeown, Mrs. Good from Mountain Grove and Art and Lena Osterhout of Frankford.

The prizes went to Margaret Fitchett and John Ryan for high score from Mountain Grove and most of us are becoming expert losers. I guess it's because we have so much practice at it. Margaret Ward held the lucky cup.

We were happy to have George Heasman back from his sojourn in the hospital. He says the surgeon corrected his ill but didn't do much to help his euche.

Ross thanked all for a nice party and Pres. Fred Heasman also expressed his thanks to Mary and Lois for including the Senior Citizens in it also.

If you wake up in the night and hear a mouse squeaking..... oil it.

Stirling Bantams win semi-finals

(By Thom Reynolds)

Stirling Bantams squeaked past Nobleton 4 - 3 Friday night in Nobleton to capture the Bantam D Ontario semi-finals three games to one.

The game proved to be a real cliff hanger as Stirling watched a 3-0 lead dwindle away in the face of costly third period penalties.

Stirling took a 3-0 lead in the third period but Nobleton came up with three goals two minutes apart as they had a man advantage over Stirling. A goal by Stan Myers assisted by Kevin Solmes at 19:05 in the period with Stirling short-handed gave Stirling the edge. Stan Myers took the puck in the corner from Solmes and shot from the corner of the net. The puck hit the goalies' pads and slid into the net.

Stirling started off the scoring in the first period with a goal at 17:05 by Stan Myers with Glen Zetlor and Jeff Farrell the playmakers. Stan Myers picked up his second goal of the night, assisted at the three minute mark of the second period.

A shot from the blue line by Stan Myers on a pass from Kevin Solmes at the 6-minute mark of the third period gave Stirling its third period lead. Nobleton picked up their first goal at 13:42 of the period with Lewis scoring from Williams. At 15:36 Clark scored for the losers with Williams and Brown drawing the assists. Nobleton had the man advantage on both of their goals. Nobleton tied the game up at 17:26 with a goal by Brown assisted by Clark. The tying goal came with a scramble in front of the Stirling net, leaving goalie, Richard Whattam screened.

Stirling out-shot Nobleton 24 to

17. There were 16 penalties with Stirling drawing nine. Five of the nine penalties came in the final period.

Emerging stars of the night seemed to be Stan Myers with his four goal winning streak and defenceman David Jeffs who headed off most of the Nobleton attacks during the game and especially held Nobleton off while Stirling was serving penalties.

Stirling will now enter the all - Ontario Bantam Championship against Brantford's Six Nations' team in the best of five series which begins this Friday night in Stirling at 9 p.m. The second game will be on Sunday afternoon in Waterloo.

Six Nations clinched their semi - finals against Oshkosh three straight after defeating them 7-3, 7-5 and 5-4.

Councillor D. Bensley hands in resignation

Stirling Council will meet in special session next Monday night to elect a successor to Douglas Bensley, whose resignation was accepted with regret at the regular meeting this week.

In a letter dated March 18, Bensley told council that "it was with regret he felt it necessary to resign, and wished council success for the balance of the year." He had hoped to finish out his two-year term that would have ended December 31, but found it impossible to do so.

Contacted by the News-Argus after the meeting, Bensley stated business pressure, (he is distribution manager with Elaine Footwear), was the principal reason for his decision to step aside. He said it was a choice between work and council, so it was obvious which must be selected.

Under changes made recently in the Municipal Act, the candidate with the next highest vote totals in the last election is NOT automatically chosen for the vacancy, as was the previous practice. Reeve Robert Anderson read the act to Council Monday night, and it states that "at a meeting specially called for that purpose," any person may be nominated by a council member if there is more than one nomination. (Of a person who has been interviewed and agreed to stand if elected) then a vote shall be held, with the Reeve to break the tie if needed.

Reeve Anderson said he would not make any nomination, and left the work up to the three remaining councillors, Edward Klompfmaier, Fred Brandt and Maurice Montgomery.

Mr. Bensley was in his first term on council, and at the time of his resignation was chairman of the Police, Parks and Fire Committee and a member of the Recreation and Finance Committees. The Reeve said after the new appointment is made, there will have to be some re-alignment of the committee structure. This will be done after next week's election.

In the vote of December 1970, Maurice Faulkner and Arthur McConnell were the unsuccessful candidates behind Mr. Bensley, with about 8 votes between each of the three. These men can be approached as possible replacements, but are not the automatic choices they once were. Reeve Anderson could recall only one other instance of replacing a councillor in the past 10 years, that being when Carl E. Batesman was employed as clerk-treasurer of Hastings County halfway through his term as reeve of the village.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

The doors on the community hall, which came in for comment from Fire Chief Graham Mouck two weeks ago, have been rebuilt. Fred Brandt told council that on examination, there was nothing else that could be done. He also mentioned that there were roof problems, and he had arranged for a roofing company to examine the situation Tuesday.

Christmas comes early in the minds of some. Council received its annual appeal for funds from the Belleville Santa Claus Parade Committee this week but no action was taken.

Residents at the lower end of Emma Street petitioned council for a street light. The matter was endorsed and sent on to the PUC for further action.

A high school group from Ottawa, operating under the Opportunities For Youth Program of the federal government, is seeking permission to put on some entertainment in the village this summer. No definite plans will be known until after April 15 when the group may receive approval of its grant application if it does more details will be forthcoming.

COMPARING METHODS OF FARMING

Groups of students visited various classes and viewed a wide range of project at Stirling Junior and Senior Schools during education week. This project showed a comparison of old and new farming methods at River Valley. Dianne LaChapelle (second from left) points to a highlight of the

Muscular Dystrophy night pays off

A packed house at the Stirling Theatre last Saturday night helped raise $700 for Muscular Dystrophy research and treatment, through the program sponsored by the Stirling Fire Department.

Fire Chief Graham Mouck said this week that the western-style trophy was enthusiastically received by the audience, and it was really difficult to get things stopped at the end.

The stars of the show were a combination of the Cross Country Jamboree, Trent Valley Jamboree and the Trends from Tulsa, Oklahoma, and Wayne Fraser, the Singing Fireman from Mississauga.

Included in the total raised was a cheque for $250 from the Belleville Yardmen's Benefit Fund, Inc.

Indicative of the popularity of the show was a call received Saturday afternoon for 10 tickets from Grafton.

Minto card party

A card party was held in Minto Community Hall Thursday night with 10 tables in play. The winners were: ladies high - Mrs. Frank McGee, ladies 2nd - Mrs. Earl Ketchen, ladies low - Miss Lori Holden; men's high - Roger Wammaker, men's 2nd - Pete

Service goes down as rates go up

(By Lynn Jones)

For many years, newspapers were delivered by the post office facilities for a very minimum charge, in fact it was considered part of the vital flow of information to do so. About four years ago, the bureaucrats determined we weren't paying our fair share of the costs, so rates increased in many instances, although weeklies were not too hard hit. Many publications, among them such a well-known one as the Legionary failed to qualify for second class mailing privileges, and the mail rate became so prohibitive, it ceased publication. We know of several that have had to curtail their size in order to keep mailing within a reasonable figure. Such instances as these arose because the papers or magazines were considered to be the official voice of the particular group they served, and thus not truly "news" papers.

We have no quarrel with any effort to make any segment of the publishing industry pay its way, but when it does, why should the customer suffer from the type of service which in many instances has dropped as rapidly as the price rose.

We speak here of two specific instances. One lady this week cancelled her subscription to the News - Argus because it takes anywhere from a week to two weeks for the paper to travel from Stirling to Port Credit, a distance of perhaps 115 miles, a little more if you follow the exact route of the mail bag. Another, who lives in Toronto, gets hers either Thursday or Friday of the same week.

Why should there be this variance when the two papers travel from Stirling to Belleville together, and presumably should go on the same truck or train from there to somewhere in the greater Toronto area? We did at one time take a weekly paper from Gravenhurst, and it always arrived the following Wednesday or Thursday. Some weeks it came real early - the Tuesday after publication.

Somewhere along the line, there is obviously a communications breakdown in the postal service itself. Does the paper industry, which makes pulp and paper the biggest employer in Canada, have to be constantly impeded by indifference and lack of speedy delivery, by a postal that used to pride itself on service despite rain, snow, sleet, etc?

We feel that newspapers are doing their share. Papers go to the post office labelled, bagged and sorted to a greater extent than ever before, and more so than any other mail. In the initial stage, all that is required is to toss a few bags from the PO loading dock to the truck. Even beyond that, in Belleville, many bags can be sent on directly, without any further handling, depending on the destination.

The postal service, in the past few years, has been the target of much heavy criticism, both written and verbal, both from the public and in the House of Commons. Instead of anything constructive being done to improve service, all that seems to happen is that the department worries about bilingual signs in places like Wingham, for instance, which has few, if any, French speaking residents, putting out numerous directives in two languages, which are hard to interpret, and usually mean one of two things - more money or curtailed or discontinued service.

People who subscribe to their hometown newspaper do so for one reason - to keep up with the happenings when they are away from home. Just as letters flow reasonably well, this flow of news in printed form is equally, if not more important than the mounds of free government literature which comes too often and nearly always too late.

Consider, Mr. Cote, for a few moments, the plight of the lowly person who should merit your attention, the voter, who is also a newspaper reader. Maybe you might retain his vote, if he has more confidence in the service provided by the department you head.

Mount Pleasant

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)
 On Wednesday, March 15 Mrs. Robert Merrick, Mrs. Joseph Sager, Mrs. Ross Jeffs and Mrs. John Talsma represented Mount Pleasant U.C.W. and were in charge of the Tea and Coffee Shop at Hastings Manor, Belleville. Grant Hubble has returned home from the General Hospital, Belleville, where he has been a patient for the past two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Reid and Jennifer, Kingston, spent a recent weekend with his mother, Mrs. Allan Reid and brother Edwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ketcheson, Belleville, were guests at a dinner party in honor of Ross Hoard on Sunday, March 12, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoard. Twenty people from here attended the annual Thrashermen and Power Farmer's Banquet at Club Canara, Belleville on Friday evening, March 17.

Mrs. Eldon Chapman and children visited Mrs. Claire Knight and daughters on Wednesday. Several folk from here visited the Hogle Funeral Home on the occasion of the death of a former resident, Mrs. Violet Rose. Her late husband was in charge of Central Cheese Factory. Following his death here, Mrs. Rose and family took up residence in Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reid and family recently moved to the Mumby apartment, Fourth Concession.

Mrs. Frank Bailey and Terry, and Mrs. Ross Jeffs and David spent Friday evening at Nobleton. The boys took part in the Bantam hockey game.

Gordon Linn was taken by ambulance on Saturday to the General Hospital, Belleville. Edwin Reid and his mother, Mrs. Allen Reid spent a day recently with Mrs. and Mrs. Malcolm Reid, Kingston. On Thursday, March 16 Mr. and Mrs. James Hoard, Gordon, Jeannette, Margaret, Isobel and Loretta, Mrs. Robert Hoard, Linda, Heather and Kenneth served a birthday luncheon in honor of Ross Hoard at the Senior Citizens weekly club meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Wallace and six children are now living in the former Andrews home on the fourth concession of Rawdon.

125-amp service now available

A 125-amp combination service panelboard is now on the market which should have a fairly wide application in smaller and medium sized new homes with electric heating and in homes of similar size that are being converted to electric heating.

It has been felt that a good part of the electric heating market in the 10 to 15 kilowatt range has been lost because of additional costs resulting from the lack of a low cost service panelboard between the 100 and 200-amp sizes. As a result, the Niagara Region Inspection Department requested and assisted various manufacturers in the development of a product that would reduce overall service entrance costs for loads that are marginally in excess of 100 amperes.

Amalgamated Electric Corporation (CE) first manufactured such a fusible panelboard with a main 125-amp breaker for a pilot housing project by Defasco Limited in Hamilton. F.P. Pioneer Electric Limited was the first to obtain CSA Certification and has been accepting orders since January 1.

The 125-amp size has a definite advantage because, in spite of the cost of the panelboard, labour and wiring material costs compare favorably with those of a 100-amp service. Hence, considerable savings are realized where a 125-amp overhead service can be used in lieu of a 200-amp overhead service.

Election talk

One advantage our American friends have is that they know an election campaign is in progress and they will be called upon to vote early in November for the candidates of their choice. It's hard to believe the expensive guessing games in Canada couldn't be settled so our politicians who earn, to use the phrase loosely, $25,000 a year, could get down to the business of running the country.

A remark made by Senator Richard Stanbury this week on a free-time political telecast surely sets the tone of the Liberal thinking, and everyone seems to admit an election is within a few months of happening except the man who counts, Pierre Elliott Trudeau. Stanbury said in effect that the present leadership is the only way out of whatever mess we are in. The veracity of this may be questioned, but surely the fact he makes statements like this indicates he feels a vote is near. As president of the party he should have a pretty good idea.

On the other side of the coin, the PM was quoted during the past few days as saying that maybe the activities of the opposition will cause an election to be called. That is utter bunk. The very fact an election hasn't been called shows clearly that PET thinks either the electorate has not enough confidence to re-elect him, or he wants the other parties to wear themselves out tearing about on imagined campaign speaking, so when the real time comes, his Grits will be rested and ready.

PET keeps reminding anybody who cares to listen that HE doesn't need to worry for another year or more. Mathematically speaking he is correct, but politically it would be suicide to wait that long, as then everyone would almost know the time and day. He certainly is getting lots of mileage from the guessing that is going on. By law we are restricted to Mondays for voting, and it takes about 60 days from dissolution to voting, so as of now, May 29 is a good guess, except required work would be done over Easter weekend. He has all of April to call the vote and still make it in June, so from this point, it looks as if anytime from April 3 on we MAY expect the long-awaited pronouncement.

Do You Remember?

25 Years Ago

Apparently chased from its winter hide-out, a large doe was seen by several farmers in Sidney township just south of the Village on Monday, Geo. Heasman first saw it crossing his farm, heading north towards Raymond Chambers' property. Later it was seen by Ray Danford on the road in front of the Chambers property. According to Mr. Danford, the doe would weigh about 200 pounds.

Congratulations are extended to Mrs. Wesley Haskins, of this Village, who is celebrating her 81st birthday today, March 20th. Her many friends will join in wishing her many more happy birthdays.

While working on a construction job in Belleville last week, Herbert Lummiss, of this village, found an American nickel dating back 115 years. The coin, which is about half the size of a Canadian dime, bore the date 1857.

Dr. and Mrs. P. V. Helliwell are contemplating departure this coming week for Tucson, Arizona, where they will visit relatives. Their son, Grant, will accompany them on the trip, which, in all probability, will extend well into the fourth week.

Friends of Miss Verna Brown, who recently won in the preliminary contest of the "Great Unlimited" programme broadcast over CJBQ each week, will be interested to learn that she will compete in the finals on Saturday next, March 22nd. The programme goes on the air over CJBQ at 10 a.m. Miss Brown is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, of Carmel.

On Friday evening about seven-fifty neighbours and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McKeown, Bonarlaw, to spend the evening with them before their departure for their new home in Springbrook. After a short program, an address was read by Mr. Ernest Stiles, after which Mr. and Mrs. McKeown were presented with a lovely trillite floor lamp and smoker by Mr. Simon Mathers and Arthur Burkit.

Mr. and Mrs. McKeown both thanked their friends and invited them all to visit them in their new home. Several speeches took place and all joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." Lunch was served by the ladies.

65 Years Ago

During the past few weeks a great number of the tall poplar trees which have been conspicuous landmarks in the village have been cut down. Last season they failed to put on their usual summer garb, and presented a rather ragged appearance, and their removal will improve the look of the streets as well as the residences near which they stood.

The Lily Mission Band will give an open meeting in the Methodist church on Wednesday evening March 27th. A program consisting chiefly of music is being prepared. The chief feature of the evening will be the mite box opening exercise. Admission free. A collection will be taken in aid of the new home being built at Kitamaat for Indian boys and girls. Everybody welcome.

A double header G. T. R. freight train going east ran into two cows on the track near Haliloway on Sunday afternoon last. The engine and a number of cars were thrown from the track, but fortunately no one was injured.

At a meeting of the Kingston Presbytery held last week in the Limestone City, a request was made by St. Andrew's congregation, Stirling, that permission be granted to sell the present manse and adjoining property. The request was granted.

Owing to the popularity of the Alexander hymns the song series in St. Andrew's church is to be continued each Sunday until further announcement. The attendance at these services has been unusually good, and the young people are especially appreciative of the musical portion of the service.

60 Years Ago

Arthur Weaver, R.R. 3, Frankford, brought in an old clipping from the News-Argus, which we think you will find interesting. It reads as follows:

SIXTY YEARS AGO IN STIRLING To some of our readers a bit of the ancient history of our town will bring crowding memories of places and people and happenings almost -- but not quite -- forgotten. To others the following list of names of those who were business men here in the days past will bring the thought "Here today and gone tomorrow."

Mr. J. T. Belshaw, to whom we are indebted for the list of Stirling's old residents, can call to his memory the faces of all but one of these men. How many do you remember?

TICKLE BOX® by Ted Trogdon

Keeping it clean

with Bill Dodds

Good clean country air... People keep talking about dirty air and water pollution in the cities -- something you escape by moving to a small town or the country.

Don't you believe it! You know what really bothers people about air pollution? It's the smell. They complain more about odor than they do about dirt.

And there is something especially ripe about a badly run pig-gery or poultry farm.

Just stand downwind from one. The Ontario Water Resources Commission said that 600 cows, 5,200 hogs or 70,000 broilers produce a solid waste disposal problem that equals a town of 10,000 people.

Solid waste disposal problem... That's manure. It is easy to spread it around and make use of it when farmers produce crops as well as animals. But this is the age of specialization and intensive animal farming.

Se manure is piling up and getting rid of it is headache. You even have to be careful spreading it, because too much can create a water pollution problem. An overdose means nutrients wash into the rivers and lakes.

It is too good a fertilizer to waste. It has to be used to produce crops. But there's no easy answer to the problems of manure. If we're still looking for one.

But there are a lot of things a farmer can do to avoid offending his neighbors.

Ontario's Department of the Environment and Department of Agriculture and Food put together a suggested code of practice for animal farming. If you'd like one, write: Information Services, Department of the Environment, 880 Bay Street, Toronto 181, Ontario. It comes in a plain brown wrapper.

Last week for fish and chip suppers

The Lenten season is drawing to a close. Next Friday is the last opportunity to enjoy St. John's Anglican Men's Club fish and chips this year.

Cooking fish and chips takes a great deal of time and care. At noon, each Friday, the grease has to be heated, and the chips par-cooked. By four o'clock the fish is ready to be cooked. The take-out orders are prepared and sent on their way - the last being delivered at 6:30. Very few take-out orders have been delivered late. At 6:30 the dining hall is opened and the fish and chips are served. By nine clean-up is well under way.

The last five weeks have been very successful. The second week was a record for the Men's Club with 295 take-out orders and 195 dinners in the church hall. The staff had quite a time making sure that everyone had what they wanted. It wasn't until 10:30 p.m. that the staff had finished all their work and home.

Stirling bowlers zone winners

On Sunday, March 26 the Men's Zone Round of the Thomas Adam's National Classified Championships was held at the Stirling Bowl-O-Drome. It was an exciting tournament with the outcome not being decided until the last bowl was rolled and the Stirling team emerging victors by a mere 11 points. At the end of the second game Stirling was 77 points behind a Brighton team, but Stirling bowled 1052 in their last game to Brighton's 964.

There were six teams in the tournament who had won the right to bowl in the Zone Round by winning their positions on teams in their respective average groups -- 2 teams from Stirling, 2 from Trenton and 2 from Brighton. Each team was made up of one bowler from each of the five average classifications: Class (1) 0-165; (2) 166-185; (3) 186-205; (4) 206-225 and (5) 226-up.

The winning team and each bowler's triple -- Class (1) Peter Little 638; (2) Mike Kerr 548; (3) Robert Sararas 651; (4) George Noble 629 and (5) Ralph Sca 644.

These Zone "K" (Bay of Quinte) bowlers will now bowl against six other zone winners in the Eastern Ontario Finals to be held at D and A Lanes, Trenton, on Sunday, April 16. The winners of this round will win the right to bowl in the National Round this year being held at Winnipeg. This is an all-expense paid four day event with victory banquet, etc. Each one of the 30 bowlers who bowled in the Zone round were presented with attractive crests for being House Round winners.

House winners in the first round of the tournament held at the Stirling Bowl-O-Drome Sunday were, from left, Ralph Sca, George Noble, Michael Kerr, Robert Sararas and Peter Little.

Senior citizens residence will be erected on Batawa site

The village of Batawa will be the site of a proposed 20-unit senior citizens' low rental residence, to be built by the Ontario East Triangle Court Ltd., composed of members of the Orange Association in eastern Ontario. The exact land site will be south of the main entrance to the village on Highway 33 and will cover 15 acres.

The project, which has been two years in study stage, is being built under a non-profit Ontario company, which received its charter in January this year. Approval has been obtained for income tax deductible donations as well during the same period.

The idea for the project was first presented at the annual grand lodge meetings in Brockville in 1970 and a committee formed. At the sessions in Lindsay last April, the committee was re-appointed after it had recommended this type of project be selected.

Present personnel of the committee are Bernard Hollinger, Foxboro, chairman, Ernest Barkley, Kemptville, vice-chairman, Evelyn Richards, Douglas, secretary, Harry Shinson, Smith Falls, treasurer; William Bradley, Smith Falls, Donald Lowe, Kemptville; Vera Capstick, Lindsay; Mrs. Elean Chismore and Mel Frost, Ottawa; Mrs. Lillian Nancarrow, Trenton; Mrs. Mary McMullen, Brockville; and Lynn Jones, Stirling. Barkley is Grand Master of the Loyd Orange Young Britons Association of Canada, and Donald Lowe, Grand Master of Eastern Ont.; Mrs. Capstick is Grand Mistress of the Ladies Orange Benevolent Association, and Mr. Frost, Grand Master of the Royal Black Knights, both of eastern Ontario.

The initial stage of the project will be worth about $250,000, with the company required to raise about 25 per cent through its own efforts and the grants available from various government departments. The balance of the financing will be arranged through Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. The land, just acquired, is conveniently adjacent to water and sewer facilities and has road access which can be easily arranged.

The project will be similar in design to the Kinsman Court in Peterborough, which was designed by the firm of Craig, Zeigler and Strong, and won the Governor-General's award for its work. The same firm has been employed by the new project committee. O'Flynn and O'Flynn are the legal counsel.

Since last April, the committee has received nearly $4,000 in donations from lodges and individuals, and is currently operating a draw, for prizes of $2,700 and $1,000 respectively, which will be drawn in Smiths Falls on April 1.

The most recent committee meeting was last weekend at the Bata Conference Room, and following the annual sessions of the provincial lodges in Smiths Falls, it is expected that the project will be given further momentum, as numerous individuals have pledged donations once the site was known.

Stirling Bantams edged Six Nations 5-4 in overtime here on Friday night in the first game of the all-Ontario DD championship but were unable to stop them in the second game in Waterford on Sunday. Stirling bounced back from a 3-1 deficit in the Sunday game to take a 4-3 counter after two periods of play, but faltered in the third.

Six Nations lowered the boom in the final period, outshooting Stirling 17-2 and outscoring Stirling 3-0 to pick up the 6-4 win.

Over the 60 minutes, Stirling was outshot 31-18 by Six Nations. Kevin Solmes and Stan Myers had two goals and two assists each while Rob DeJong picked up two assists and Glen Dettlor one.

The victory for Six Nations evened the best of five series at one game each after Stirling had taken a 5-4 overtime verdict in Friday night's opener.

Six Nations led 2-0 at the end of the second period Friday night on goals in the first period by Rocky Smith and in the second by Brian Martin. Stirling scored at 1:41 of the third period on a goal by Glen Dettlor from Rob DeJong and then tied it up at 3:43 with Mark Dobson bashing in a goal unassisted. Stirling had a man-advantage at the time.

The county board will spend $22,622,546 this year. The 1971 budget was $20,352,931. The province will pay 70 per cent instead of the 66 per cent it contributed last year. Ratepayers will contribute 24 per cent, instead of the 27 per cent they paid last year. The remainder will come from tuition fees paid Hastings by other counties.

But chairman Donald Williams of Stirling said he was alarmed by the trend since 1969 for rural taxes to go up, while urban taxes go down.

Trustees decided to send a delegation to the minister of education to discuss the mill rates on rural properties.

Mr. Williams presented tax rates on a $15,000 house in several municipalities to illustrate his point. In Belleville, education tax on the house has declined from $173 in 1969 to $115 in 1972. In Hungerford township, tax on the same house has gone up from $138 in 1969 to $157 in 1972 and in Stirling, the levy has increased from $121 to $139.

At a recent budget meeting of the Board, it agreed to take action against any municipality that did not pay its share of the operating costs. Interest could be charged on the overdue accounts.

Chairman Jack Bush stated that until the Minister of Municipal Affairs rules otherwise, Stirling is a member and liable for any assessment of the Board.

The budget was apparently recently approved at a closed-door session of the Board, and so far has not been made public.

Last fall, Stirling decided it would rather be a member of only the Hastings County Planning Board, rather than both as it is at the moment.

News-Argus Notebook

CONFIRM ENGINEERS - The consulting engineering firm of Greer, Gattaway and Associates was appointed Monday night to handle the engineering work in connection with enlargement of the sewer lagoon system. The firm's head office is in Peterborough, but they recently opened a branch office in Belleville, under the management of Peter Anderson, former county engineer. The firm has been approved by the Ontario Water Resources Commission to handle this project.

OPEN THURSDAY NIGHT - It is believed most Stirling businesses will be open until 9 p.m. Thursday, as Friday is a holiday this week. No official announcement has been made. Most churches have planned special services for Sunday, and some have service on Good Friday. Consult the regular Church Ad in the News-Argus for further information.

HOUSE RANSACKED - A large house owned by G.H. Hoyle, located on Highway #2 west of Belleville, has been thoroughly ransacked recently. The unexplained entry of visitors forced entry by breaking windows, and inside made a complete mess of what furniture was in the building. Typical of the actions were the light switch that was almost gouged off the wall and the smashing of the toilet tank by apparently throwing the wash basin at it. O.P.P. are investigating.

North St. businesses broken into Neighboring businesses on North Street were victims of breakings last week, as thieves entered Stirling Lumber late Tuesday night and visited Stirling Farm and Garden some time Friday evening.

Bylaw officer Frank Broekema may have been responsible for the fact the lumber company safe was not opened. The safe was taken from the office in one of the company's own wheelbarrows, out to the back of the premises.

On his nightly patrol, Mr. Broekema noticed something wrong and decided to investigate a little further. By the time he notified the O.P.P. office, and officers arrived, there was no sign of the burglar, but the safe was found in the field behind the building. Manager Arthur Loucks said the safe was ruined, and in another five minutes it would have been open.

Officials of Stirling Farm and Garden said Monday that there was only a small amount of cash taken. The most damage was done to a small radio and a briefcase which were taken some distance from the building and totally wrecked. Tracks indicated there were two people involved in this episode.

The last "Pot Luck" dinner for this season was held on March 23 with a very good attendance. After clean up chores, Mrs. Russell called the U.C.W. meeting to order with the reading of the Easter message and prayer.

The roll call, a verse containing the word "Easter", was answered by 17 members and visitors, also 5 children present. Mrs. G. Clancy and Mrs. R. Hadley conducted the worship service and later a short program. The opening hymn was "Rejoice, the Lord is King," with Mrs. Elliott as pianist. Mrs. Hadley read a "Good News" translation of the Scripture, St. John 20, 1-18. A solo, "Beneath the Cross of Jesus" was sung by Mrs. D. Heath. Mrs. Hadley led in prayer. A poem, "A guard of the Sepulchre," was read by Mrs. G. Sine. Mrs. Clancy gave the meditation on the theme, "Easter". The hymn "Christ the Lord is risen today," was followed by prayer. Mrs. Russell was in charge of the business session. The minutes of the February meeting and correspondence were read by Mrs. Reid. Thank you notes had been received as well as invitation to visit other U.C.W. groups. An upcoming CBC program for March 31 was announced, also a reminder of catering on April 3. It was voted to send a donation to the Central Caravan Committee.

Mrs. R. Pender chose Zambia as our country to study in Africa. Maps were distributed and the countries to be studied were marked. The main food in Zambia, as eaten by the native people, is porridge made from ground corn. Caterpillars and flying ants are a delicacy. A farm and farmer doesn't become mechanized simply by taking away the oxen and giving a tractor. Now there is a farm college at Kalulushi. In the villages all worked together and enjoyed the companionship of their women won the respect of their husbands by their work at the end of the day. In the urban areas that companionship is lost and life is lonely. The nearest neighbor might be from a different tribe and speak a different dialect. There is also quite an education gap. There isn't the work for the women to do, so the husbands accuse them of being lazy. What the people cannot understand is if there is only one God to worship why are services held each Sunday under 17 different denominations. Mrs. Pender and Mrs. Cox gave a short talk.

Mrs. Holden gave a reading, "I'm fine, thank you and Mrs. Ketchen read a poem "My dinner. All joined in singing "The Old Rugged Cross and the Benediction closed the meeting.

Horticultural Society meets

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen) On Monday, March 20, 45 people convened in St. John's Anglican Church hall for the monthly meeting of Stirling Horticultural Society.

The president, Mrs. Floyd Armstrong, opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer, Gardner's prayer and a welcome to all.

Mrs. John Doran read the minutes and correspondence. The news letter reminded the group to be ever mindful of litter. It also gave information re spring planting of flowers and other timely advice.

Mrs. Grant Hubble, treasurer, reported 40 paid members to date. The proceeds from the recent bus trip to the Toronto flower show was $21.25. An honorarium of $15.00 will be given to the educational department of St. John's Church for the use of their hall for three meetings. A donation of $5.00 was made to the Stirling Festival of Sacred Praise.

Mrs. Luella Bronson reported sending 11 cards for the friendship department.

The society will provide eight Easter lilies for their annual contribution to the various churches. St. John's Anglican Church, St. Paul's United Church, St. James the Minor Church, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Grace Chapel, Good Tidings Pentecostal Tabernacle, Mount Pleasant United Church and Bethel United Church.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, April 17, in St. Paul's United Church.

Mrs. Carman Nix reported that plans for the bus trip to Ottawa had been cancelled. There will be a trip to Ottawa to view the tulips in May. The president reminded the membership to plan ahead, plant slips and prepare for the annual flowersale in May. When the nominating committee brought in their report in January, 1972, they also chose a committee of eight ladies for each month of this year. This group provides the program and the refreshments, as their contribution to the society.

At the social hour a collection of 25 cents per person was taken and this goes directly into the funds of the treasurer. Each member is asked for food only once during the year.

Mrs. Raymond McConnell was convener for the program. Mrs. Percy MacMullen read two poems, "Spring," written by Louise Tournes of Athens in 1940 and "The Garden Club Song," that states in closing that he who makes a garden works hard in hand with God.

Mrs. Milford Wrightman introduced her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jack Wrightman of Trenton. She showed scenic pictures of their recent trip to Florida. In her travelogue she told about Silver Springs, Miami, Cypress Gardens, etc. The colorful flowers and shrubbery, animals and birds were all very interesting.

The convener voiced appreciative thanks and Mrs. Oscar Merrick made the presentation of a small gift.

Mrs. Merrick and Mrs. Grant Hubble conducted a floral contest.

The group in charge then conducted a demonstration of colorful flowers fashioned from styrofoam egg cartons.

Mrs. McConnell showed the various stages of this craft and most of the members made a flower to carry home.

Miss Annie Holmes assisted with cutting the cartons. The essentials needed were provided for the members so each could fashion a flower.

Mrs. McConnell displayed a colorful table centerpiece which she had previously made for this occasion.

The refreshments for the social hour were angel cake, strawberries, ice cream, tea and coffee.

The winners of the lucky prizes were Laura Waite and Hazel Wrightman.

Two of the Mount Pleasant group who assisted with the refreshments were unavoidably absent. They were Mrs. Kenneth Weaver and Mrs. John Morgan. At the close of the social hour, Mrs. Harry Waite, voiced appreciative thanks to the Mount Pleasant group for the program and refreshments and Mrs. McConnell replied.

EASTER

The Christian calendar undergoes its most serious convulsion this weekend, and the concepts of physical death and ultimate survival over it and sin, command the centre stage of religious life. It is a time of agony, as the story of the Crucifixion unfolds on Friday, and at the same moment an hour of triumph and glory, as Jesus Christ comes to Mary Magdalene in the garden, living evidence of his atonement.

Most of the world pictures Easter as a time for new clothes, perhaps a new car, and generally sprucing up things. After all, it comes not long after the arrival of spring, and after the drudgery of winter, it is only human to want to cast off the drags of winter clothing and look forward with anticipation to the coming summer and the joy it brings.

This also is the Easter story, if you read carefully the accounts in the New Testament, that fulfil the prophecy of the Old. The doctrine of redeeming grace, able to be achieved only by a sinless sacrifice, was something passed down from the time of Moses. The Jews still look for that Messiah, believing him to be a deliverer from physical oppression, rather than the medium of freeing men's minds from eternal bondage under the leadership and direction of Satan.

No man before or since, walked this earth in sinless form, and after death, returned to proclaim his victory. No man was able to endure the temptations or sufferings, with as little evidence of pain. No man was able to command the attention of others, and speak truths in such simple language, that even the most illiterate could understand. No man was able to commune with God and carry out the wishes of his father, to the extent that it cost him his life.

Scholars had tried every type of analysis to determine how such a supposedly advanced society as the Empire of Rome was, could condone the mockery of justice that was the arrest, trial, and execution of this man who never did anything more violent than put healing mud on a blind man's eyes or say anything more violent than "Love your neighbor as yourself." We let men and women walk the streets today who are accused of more serious offences, and even without posting bail.

Viewed from every possible angle, this happening in history, which turned the world on a new course, can only be considered in the light of God's will. We are challenged at every hand that none came to help. Even though armies were promised, their help was refused. He was looking for the help of the heart, not the aid from the sword.

As we march further and further into the realms of unknown space, created by the same God that allowed the agony and ecstasy of Easter to happen, in His own time, we should be aware that there is a Divine Plan for this and any other world which may support human life. The human mind and intelligence cannot grasp the infinite glories of space, any more than it can comprehend the mysteries of the atom.

As we come to another Easter, and this focal point of human history is brought pointedly before us, let the joy that is His reign supreme, and never again will worry over space or the future be among the elements that clutter every day living.

Do You Remember?

Miss Betty McGee of this village, underwent an appendectomy in Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, on Wednesday morning. Her many friends will be pleased to learn that her condition is quite satisfactory.

Several of the district students at Peterborough Normal School are doing some practice-teaching at the local Public School this week under the watchful eye of the regular members of staff. Don Runnalls is in Miss Neplew's room, Iris Holland in Miss Montgomery's room, Mary Chambers in Mrs. G. Heath's room and Eleanor Bush in Mrs. R.B. Bell's room.

Bobby, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McCrory, of town, knows his "movie" dogs. In a contest calling for the names of the dogs appearing most in pictures at the Capitol Theatre, Belleville, on Saturday, Bobby was the winner and was awarded two tickets to the theatre as a prize.

Preparations are under way for the building of another branch factory for the Canadian Canners which will be located at Foxboro. This factory will be under the supervision of the local manager, Mr. Jack Farley, who is very busy at the present time in getting out the materials for the building.

Just when everybody thought the winter was surely over the weatherman did an about face and treated this district to a raging blizzard Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning. There was an accompanying drop in temperature and high winds and many of the concession roads which only recently were opened to motor traffic are again blocked. Many residents are consoling themselves with the thought that this is Old Man Winter's last kick in 1947.

Apparently aware that the trapping season for mink is over, one of these valuable fur-bearing animals took a stroll on Front Street Monday forenoon. When first seen by William Montgomery, an employee of the Stirling Motor Sales, it was traveling eastward in the centre of the Highway and after exploring under some cars parked near the corner on John St., it disappeared into a stone wall at the rear of Councillor Wells' property. On Wednesday it was reported to be still in the vicinity.

65 Years Ago

Mr. Samuel Patterson sold a team of horses last week for $400. Good horses now command a big price.

There has been some very warm weather for this time of the year, and there is every indication of an early spring.

Short addresses in connection with the benefit of libraries will be given by Rev. W.G. Clarke and Col. J. Earl Halliwell at the Library concert next Tuesday night.

All the merchants of the village have mutually agreed to close their stores on Tuesday evening next, to allow everyone the privilege of attending the Public Library concert.

A first shipment of calves was made from here on Tuesday. Many of them had been brought in on Monday, and their continuing bawling during the twenty-four hours they remained loaded on a car at the station was anything but pleasant for residents in that vicinity, and besides was cruel to the young animals. The Conservatives of East Northumberland have selected C. L. Owen of Campbellford as their candidate for the seat in the House of Commons which was made vacant by the death of Mr. Edward Cochrane, M.P.

On Tuesday evening, April 2nd, there will be presented, under the auspices of the Public Library, by the Francis Firth Opera Company, what the press declares to be one of the brightest and most refined entertainments ever given in the provinces. In "The Beggar Student," which constitutes the first half of the bill, they give a most charming "Operetta," full of bright music and sparkling dialogue. Given, as it is by a clever cast, and with special stage setting and bright costumes of the 17th century, it presents a pleasing picture for the eye, as well as a charm to the ear. The second half of the bill consists of solos, duos, quartettes, readings, etc., taken from the latest successes, and are sung and acted in costume, making the performance in all a versatile and bright one.

Democracy lives in Newfoundland

By ELDON KEMP
Canada's newest province can now be expected to regain a measure of political stability after undergoing a most bizarre period.

Not unexpectedly, the Progressive Conservative party together a solid win in last week's election, ending the stalemate which developed after the 1971 fall election. The Conservative sweep was reminiscent of the Dielenbaker landslide win of 1959, which followed a minority PC win in 1957.

Ex-premier Joey Smallwood, who was not a candidate in this election, probably came closest to the truth when he stated that Newfoundlanders had become bored with the Liberals who had held power since the province joined Canada over two decades ago.

The most gratifying thing about the outcome of the election, in my view, was the defeat of Tom Burgess. Elected last fall as a New Labrador party candidate, he initially promised to support the Conservatives, which would have given Premier Moores an overall majority.

Then, as the realization that he held the balance of power grew, he suddenly switched his support to the Liberals, apparently with the thought he might be able to grab Mr. Smallwood's mantle. Canadians across the nation will applaud Newfoundland's rejection of such a display of demagogism and irresponsibility. Mr. Burgess is thus relegated to the obscurity he deserves. Power-hungry politicians, please take note.

The road ahead for Premier Moores and his new government will not be easy. The economy of the province still lags far behind that of much of the rest of the country. Unemployment is a tough problem.

Newfoundlanders clearly wanted a change in administration and with Mr. Smallwood, who has become a legend in his own time, out of the picture, they tossed the Liberals out.

Time alone will tell what the inexperienced PCs can do for the province. Meanwhile, we can rest assured that democracy is alive and well in Newfoundland.

Corrections

Harold C. Martin informs us that the clipping loaned to us by Arthur Weaver listing Stirling's businessmen of the day, which was published in last week's edition, refers to a time more than 100 years ago -- not 60 years ago, as the heading indicated. One of the names mentioned was James Martin, grandfather of Harold Martin, who retired in 1890.

The Weekly Meditation column published on March 8 was contributed by Miss Judy Merrill of Stirling who should have received the credit in place of Rev. John A. May.

Stop talking about it....

Alan Stacey's Geography students were tired of talking about the environment.

They told the Ancaster High and Vocational School teacher last year they wanted to do something and conservation was their bag.

When the teacher suggested fund-raising, they thought immediately of the Dundas Valley--2,000 acres of hills, forests, ravines, streams and waterfalls nestled along the Niagara Escarpment.

The valley was in the news. The then Department of Highways had shelved plans for a four-lane valley parkway in the face of public opposition. A report on the Niagara Escarpment gave the valley top priority for future Government action and it was marked as greenbelt in the just-released Toronto Region concept.

Even more important, John Roberts, then Prime Minister of Ontario, had announced 75 per cent grants for the purchase of Niagara Escarpment conservation land. So every dollar they could raise would be matched with three from the province.

The Ancaster youngsters cut Parkside High School teacher Don Buntaine and some of his Dundas Students in on the action and about 80 students hit the streets, knocking on doors.

Joined by naturalists and anti-pollution groups, they left conservation brochures and a flyer that asked:

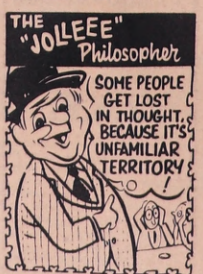

"Is there any reason why this land should not be saved for all people, and for all time?"

Apparently not, because when they finished collecting dollar donations and leaving certificates for donors, they had $6,000 -- enough with the Government grant for the Hamilton Region Conservation Authority to acquire 30 acres of the Dundas Valley.

This year, they are trying to widen their campaign by bringing in all the high schools in Hamilton and Wentworth County -- it's a big valley and there's still a lot of land to save.

And the students in Ancaster want to get involved in more than fund raising. They are preparing a brief on open space for Ancaster to consider in its official plan.

Andre Dufresne, Lynn Dufresne and Tim Whiteman were involved with a project which traced the lives of former graduates of Stirling public school between the years of 1908 and 1955. The chart tells where the graduate is now living and his or her present occupation. Susan Adams, a Grade Six student, (standing) viewed the project and took notes. Bancroft conference planned

The Madawaska Valley Tourist Association, the Bancroft Chamber of Commerce, and the Department of Tourism and Information, in cooperation with Loyola College are sponsoring a two-day conference on tourism to be held in Bancroft on April 10 and 11.

This two-day conference has been organized to assist the membership of the Bancroft Chamber of Commerce and the Madawaska Valley Tourist Association do a better job in promoting their own businesses in particular and tourism in general in the community.

The conference is titled, "More Dollars For You Through Tourism." The course director will be Mr. Douglas Vanderburgh, Owner/Manager of the Cedar Villa Resort in Fenelon Falls.

Mr. Vanderburgh is a partner with Warren Consultants and the past president of the Kawartha Tourist Association. He is the Director of the Association of Tourist Resorts of Ontario, and the Chairman of the Lindsay Chamber of Commerce Tourist Committee. Also, he is currently lecturing at Sir Sandford Fleming College in Peterborough to students in the Tourism and Transportation Program. He will be assisted by Mr. Ron Beall, the Assistant Manager of Cedar Villa Resort of Fenelon Falls and a graduate of Ryerson Polytechnical Institute in Hotel and Motel Management. The conference is also fortunate in obtaining the services of Mr. Fred General, who has recently retired as a manager of Eastons in Toronto, and is now operating the Arkadia Trailer Park in the Kawarthas, and Mr. John Hunter, the National Merchandising Manager, Food Services Division of Quaker Oats Company, Peterborough. Both of these gentlemen have had wide experience in marketing and will be acting as course leaders for part of the two-day session.

The theme for the first day of the conference is, "Increasing Profits by Improving Management Skills" and will feature John Hunter discussing the advantages to be gained by doing a better job of listening which he considers a master key to good management. During the afternoon of the first day, he will be discussing "Attitudes Equal Dollars" which will examine the attitude of business personnel and the image they project to their staff, community, and their customers. In the evening session, Mr. Vanderburgh will be discussing problems associated with hiring of staff with special reference to interviewing techniques and what to look for in an interview.

The theme for the second day is, "Increasing Your Profits Through Problem Solving" in which the participants will break into three groups representing the resort and motel operators, the retail store and service operators, and the restaurant and food service operators. These groups will be led respectively by Doug Vanderburgh who will be discussing "How To Promote Your Establishment to Increase Profits; Fred General who will be discussing "Advertising and Merchandising Ideas Which Tourist Operators Can Use To Attract Customers;" and Ron Beall who will be discussing "Staff Training and Other Related Problems in the Restaurant and Food Service Business."

The conference, which is to be held at Birch Cliff Lodge on Baptiste Lake just outside Bancroft, has been limited to 75 members of the Madawaska Valley Tourist Association and the Bancroft Chamber of Commerce. If the conference is successful, and there is every reason to believe that it will be, Loyalist College expects to offer it again to Tourist Association and Chambers of Commerce wherever it would be appropriate in the four county region served by the College.

BLACK TERN

This small, black-bodied, grey-winged tern, is a common resident of prairie marshes, ponds and lakes. Constantly on the wing it flies with an erratic, twisting and turning flight, beating back and forth, sometimes low and then high, in pursuit of insects. Nests are located on mud-bars, among windrows of dead reeds or other marsh vegetation, occasionally on a floating log or a muskrat house. Eggs 2 to 4 are buff or olive in color, marked with blackish-brown.

Winter driving hard on vehicles

Winter! It's hard on cars, spinning tires, windshield wipers coated with ice, mufflers scraping over snow banks, horns that won't blow....

And spring is not much better. There are potholes to shake up the steering and tires, and big puddles of salty water to finish off weakened ignition systems. The family transportation has taken quite a beating since the snow tires were slapped on, plugs were changed and radiator was checked last fall.

There's a very good chance that it is no longer safe.

Approximately 60 per cent of the cars in provinces of Canada, where there are compulsory safety check-ups, fail on the first test.

"That means there are a lot of potentially dangerous cars on the road right now," said Phil Farmer, Executive Director of the Canada Safety Council. "And these cars are responsible for accidents." Approximately 10 per cent of all automobile accidents in the country are caused by mechanical malfunction and almost all of these can be traced to lack of maintenance, he said. There were about 1/2 million traffic accidents in Canada last year.

This is why the Canada Safety Council is in favor of compulsory motor vehicle inspections, he explained. Inspections are compulsory in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and British Columbia. Partial systems exist in Ontario and Quebec and a pilot project is operating in Manitoba.

Drivers must be aware of the fact that mechanical defects can occur between inspections. In an effort to fill the gap, the Canada Safety Council recommends two different types of safety checks.

The first developed in co-operation with the Canadian Automotive Trade magazine, is carried out with an increasing number of garages across the country. The Council makes a safety maintenance check list available to garages. These lists can be filled out by a mechanic and give the motorist a good idea of the condition of his car. There is no obligation for the motorist to have work done at the garage. Yet he ought to know that faults should not be left unattended.

The other test, a 10-point diagnosis, can be carried out by the motorist himself while he is at the wheel of his car. It focusses his attention on various possible danger points including: brake pedal sinking to the floor under light foot pressure; car pulling constantly to one side while stopping; excessive play in the steering; car vibrating at 50-65 mph; steering column shimmying at high or low speeds; rear-wheel locking upon light application of brakes; poor roadability (requiring constant steering to keep it on the road); excessive noise or whistling in the exhaust system; unusual odors inside the car; and inoperative directional signals.

"A person wrongly has a tendency to get used to most of these faults as they gradually develop," Mr. Farmer said.

Drawing attention to them with the 10-point diagnosis makes drivers realize how dangerous their cars may be.

"But even better is the check-up at the garage."

St. Andrew's group meets

The Easter meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S., West Huntingdon was held at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Roy Taylor.

Mrs. Harold Thompson gave the meditation on the word "Sacrifice" prepared by the Moderator Rev. Murdoch Nicholson, followed by prayer by Mrs. William Donnan.

WEEKLY REPORT

FOXBORO DISTRICT

(BY JACK WOOD)

Worms do considerable harm to a beef feeder or dairyman's enterprise. Probably much more than anyone fully realizes. We know that well over 50% of herds surveyed are infected by one of several kinds of worms.

The most common worms are lung worms and stomach worms, and each affects different parts of your animal's system. The lung worm creates blockage of air passages, and you'll see symptoms of coughing and emphysema. If the infection is heavy enough, your apt to see some mortality result.

The stomach worms affect digestion. Some of the worms burrow into delicate stomach or intestinal tissues, which of course, cuts down on digestive efficiency. It affects the animal's ability to convert feed into meat, or milk. Some of these stomach worms drain off blood, which in heavy infections could mean as much as 1/2 pint of blood loss per day. Loss of appetite, dehydration, sometimes swelling under the jaw, persistent diarrhea are various symptoms of stomach worms or intestinal worms.

A major challenge facing the careful herd manager is to detect the presence of worms, before they get so bad that the clear cut symptoms develop. Slight infections are not detectable. But it is safe to assume that because so many animals are infected, the pastures and barn yards used by the cattle will be heavily infested with egg and larvae. It is also wise to assume that routine worming is the best management decision.

Some feeders, in the past, used to think that stomach worms could be "flushed out" of the cattle by feeding extra rations. But all this does is "feed" the worms and "flush" your profits into the gutter.

Use of a broad spectrum wormer, that won't stress cattle, or knock them off their feed, is an excellent approach.

Briefly, worm new feeders (according to manufacturers' directions) when the feeders arrive on the farm. Worm cattle, spring and fall, including dairy calves and heifers unless they are within a month of slaughter time. Worm milkers when they are dry.

Thiabendazole (Thibenazole) and Tramisol are two such wormers that your co-op fieldman can help you use

Stirling 4-H Club hold meeting

The fourth meeting of the Stirling 4-H Club was held on March 22, at the home of Mrs. Debbie Seeley. President, Joan Moffa, called the meeting to order and opened with the 4-H Pledge. The group discussed how to sew neck binding, facings, binding on pockets and appliques on our garments. The leaders demonstrated how to sew each one and how to reinforce seams. Due to lack of space and sewing machines, they had a discussion period instead of working on their garments. Each member will work on her garment at home. The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

TODAY'S CHILD

THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE

BUSY, FRIENDLY BOY
You can tell just by looking at this picture that Martin has no inhibitions. He is a self-assured young fellow of nearly three, quite at ease in any situation. Martin is a tall, handsome boy with light brown curly hair, fair skin and dark eyes dancing with mischief. His ancestry is mainly white with one black great-grandparent. This youngster was a late starter, so much so that a year or so ago he was listed as slow learner. Now, however, recent psychological tests indicate he is at least average in ability, perhaps better. Martin's foster mother credits much of his advancement to Sesame Street. He never misses the program and she says he has learned a great deal from it. This is especially helpful for Martin because there are no other young children around, and the people on television are very real to him. This youngster has a good memory and loves to look at books or listen to stories. He likes music and carries a tune well. A sociable boy, he delights in going shopping or visiting. He is very active but lonely, since he has nobody to play with. Martin will be a joy to young, energetic parents who will appreciate a healthy, lively little son. To inquire about adopting Martin please write to Today's Child, Box 888 Station K, Toronto. For general adoption information, ask your Children's Aid Society.
